"It is a common story which the air has heard around the world to bear."

Lindbergh lands in the Virgin Islands, the world's most striking example of the Yankee theory that government rests upon the consent of the governed. We imagine it will take considerable good will to make his hosts forget that they were bought and paid for and presented with the Volstead act.

It is understood that the author of the new act to drive the American merchant marine from the seven seas is no relation to John Paul Jones.

All doubt that Hickman is insane is now removed—he quit college and bought a car, and his grandfather was so nutty that he wouldn't work.

We fear that the anticabaret crusaders don't realize what a powerfully the prohibition cause in this country will lose if soft drinks are declared contraband of war.

It is indeed encouraging to note nowadays that more Washington women are attending cooking school than bridge games.

"President Hoover" slips out of the White House, but can he slip in?

Dave Reed announces his determination to try for another term, and we hope he isn't rejected by the Senate for parting his hair on the side or wearing the wrong kind of a necktie with a Tuxedo suit.

If Mr. Hoover is indeed the Administration candidate, there would seem to be no reason why he shouldn't follow the Taft precedent and remain in the Cabinet until after the election, while those who do not favor him may now test for themselves the well-known political theory that you can't beat somebody with nobody.

"Incidentally, the White House, in commenting yesterday, referred to Secretary Hoover as 'President Hoover.'" We always knew that "the very walls have ears," but now it seems they also have a tongue.

We can readily understand how a photograph of Tom Hefflin could be played on a phonograph record, like any other jazz tune, but when they play a picture of President Coolidge science has us at a loss.

It is reported that Senator Hefflin objected to his recent picture in the talkies on the ground that the screen made his head look too big, and "now we realize that at last Bobby Burns' wish has come true—"O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us To see ourselves as others see us."

The rift in the farm bloc in the House increases as unexpected opposition crops up against the scheme to substitute the cross-word puzzle for the equalization fee.

Mr. Droughtitt becomes editor and publisher of a wet sheet in Arlington County. It is understood that hereafter it is to be printed on blotting paper.

Our own guess is, moreover, that Mr. Hoover will continue as Secretary of Commerce after he has been sworn in as President, and that in addition he will be Secretary of State, Attorney General and the balance of the Cabinet, to say nothing of Congress and the Army and Navy.

Senator Dill announces that the tariff-starrer lumber industry of the Pacific Coast is getting ready to send a shingle to every Member of Congress. We know of several who need one badly, but who will provide the woodshed?

With the news from Russia stating the international bankers in the face this morning, it oughtn't to be very hard for the Administration to convince the investor in bonds that this is a poor time to float a Soviet loan.

Vic Berger neglects to deduct from his masterly estimate of the total cost of the World War what we saved in his Congressional salary.

Secretary Wilbur says that the S-3 found herself. Well, we never suspected Wilbur.

The Capone brothers appear to enjoy the social status of a dry sleuth at a reunion of the Elks.

That $5,000,000 collection of medieval suits of armor offered to Chicago should be accepted at once—properly distributed no prominent business man should be afraid to go to work in the morning.

We shudder with the national president of the W. C. T. U. in contemplating the disastrous economic consequences of the repeal of the Volstead act—what a soup line our jobless prohibition enforcers would make!

LINDBERGH REACHES VIRGIN ISLES; SPANS 1,050 MILES OF SEA

Presidential Salute Is Fired on His Return to American Soil.

COURSE HELD STEADY OVER THE CARIBBEAN

Aviator Reported Frequently as He Passes; Hops Off Again Tomorrow.

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—A presidential salute of 21 guns announced to Virgin Islanders today that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had completed another lap of his good will tour.

Rain cut down the size of the crowd at the golf course where he landed, but it was estimated that 2,000 persons were present to cheer as he dropped out of the sky at the end of a 1,050-mile segment of the Caribbean circle he is negotiating. The hop from Caracas, Venezuela, required 10 hours and 15 minutes.

The entire region was notified of his approach by the firing of two cannon and the ringing of church bells. The City of St. Thomas went wild with excitement when it knew that America's favorite flyer was near.

It had rained most of the day but shortly before the arrival the sun broke through the clouds to light up the golf course three miles west of the city, where bunkers, sand traps, and other hazards had been leveled to give a broad fairway for the landing.

Excellent Landing Made. Even after the appearance of the famous Spirit of St. Louis there was a short period of suspense as an aviator from Porto Rico who made a test flight recently to try out the field had refused to risk landing.

Lindbergh, however, who alighted on a small athletic field at Belice, British Honduras, made an excellent landing to the immediate cheers of the throng as the golf course was quickly added a salute of 21 guns from the town battery and the raucous steamer whistles in the harbor.

When the flyer stepped from his machine with his customary air of modesty, he was given a bouquet by one of the Virgin Island belles. He was then escorted by the government secretary and the governor's chief of staff to where Capt. Waldo Evans, U. S. N., retired, governor of the islands, was waiting in an open automobile.

After the governor greeted him, a procession formed and drove through the business section of Charlotte Amalie, chief town of the island, to the governor's residence, where Lindbergh will be a guest.

Will Depart Tomorrow. Tumultuously cheering crowds greeted the cars at every foot of the way through the extensively and elaborately decorated city.

A slight detour to go over St. Croix when he hops off probably at 2 o'clock.

Mexican Brigadier Is Killed in Ambush

Mexico City, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Brig. Gen. Jesus Vega Gil has been killed in ambush by bandits at Desierto del Carmen, in the state of Mexico, and his assassins have been executed.

Eulogio Ortiz, military commandant at Desierto, made the announcement tonight of the slaying. He said Gil was traveling with an escort when two men fired at him and he was killed without a chance to defend himself.

Desertion of Family May Mean Life Term

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 31.—To an already imposing list of accomplishments, Joseph Rogers, 43, may be privileged to add the distinction of being the first person sentenced to life imprisonment for deserting his family.

That was the outlook today after Magistrate Abraham Rosenbloom in Jefferson Market Court had been informed of Joe's past. Under the Beames habitual criminal law, Joe, in view of five previous trips to prison for robbery, can hope for nothing less than a life term.

Phonograph Plays Picture Of Coolidge Over Radio

Features of Lindbergh and President Sent Into Air From Disc, Are Picked Up by Several Receiving Sets—Will Permit Storing Photos on Records.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—The faces of Col. Lindbergh and President Coolidge were played on a phonograph in the studio of radio station WOR today, thrown out in to the ether and picked up on several receiving sets in the metropolitan district.

The picture broadcast was another form of the one recently demonstrated from WEAF, when a picture of Mayor Walker was put on the air, but it was believed to be the first time a face had been first transferred to a phonograph record.

In the WEAF experiment the lights and shadows of a photograph of the mayor were turned from light waves into sound waves; these sounds being directly broadcast and at the receiving end turned back into light waves and photographically developed.

The WOR pictures went through similar process but the noise of each picture was recorded on a phonograph record instead of being directly broadcast. Once impressed on these records the faces can then be broadcast at any time from any station.

This process is designed to permit radio stations to install "morgues" of pictures ready for broadcasting at a moment's notice, and would obviate the necessity of each one having its own apparatus for turning pictures into sound. The tests today were conducted by Austen G. Cooley, who invented the receiving apparatus used.

HICKMAN SCHOOLMATES TELL OF PECULIARITIES

One Thinks Him Insane as Result of Losing an Oratory Contest.

Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—An array of schoolboy depictions offering terms of "abnormal" and "eccentric" as their judgment of the mental condition of William E. Hickman was paraded through the sanity trial of the slayer and kidnaper of J. Edgar Hoover today.

While some of Hickman's Kansas City schoolmates thought he acted "peculiar" and "not consistent" during his senior high school year, others believed him upset, disgusted and morose for failing to win a coveted oratorical prize.

Under the cross-examination of James Costello, deputy district attorney, who accompanied him, the defense attorney, Jerome Walsh, on the deposition-taking hunt of the middle West, several students had admitted they did not think Hickman insane until the Parker trial had been slain. As late as September last some did not believe him insane or "see any great change."

Mrs. Eva Hickman, the defendant's mother, was disclosed by Arkansas physicians' reports and depositions as suffering in 1913 from "simple depression." This was held to be the result of her worry over a family of five children, and a husband whom, Dr. H. P. Ruth testified, "generally was known as being unfaithful to her."

The woman was testified to have been legally sane, or "able to distinguish right from wrong."

President to Speak At Alexandria Event

An address by President Coolidge, delivered in Christ Church, will be one of the outstanding features of the Washington Birthday celebration to be held in Alexandria February 22.

Plans for the address of the President have been made by the executive committee of the George Washington Birthday Association, and, subject to the approval of the President, the time has been set for 1:45 o'clock. Owing to the limited seating capacity of the church, admission will be by card only.

Submarine Found Itself, Says Wilbur

(Associated Press.)

The submarine S-3, which was lost from sundown Saturday until Monday night, evidently "found herself," Secretary Wilbur said yesterday that reports indicated the submersible repaired a broken radio and reported to sister ships in the control force, which for 24 hours had been in the midst of a frantic search for her off the North Carolina coast.

On account of the search the S-3 is expected to arrive at her destination, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, well ahead of her companion craft.

Mexico Ends Taxes On Production of Oil

Mexico City, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Dario Oficial today published a decree abolishing taxes on oil lands, oil contracts and royalties derived from oil exploitation.

SESSIONS AT HAVANA WAIT AS DIPLOMATS HONOR REVOLT HERO

21 Nations Represented on-Mariel Jaunt Arranged by Cuba.

GEODETIC INSTITUTE PLANNED BY MEXICO

Would Compile and Organize Data on Geography of the Western World.

Havana, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—All activities in the sixth Pan-American Congress were suspended today when delegates of 21 nations participated in a holiday trip to Mariel arranged by the state department of Cuba.

The Havana University buildings were deserted in so far as delegation work was concerned, for the greater majority of the representatives had embarked at an early hour for the Mariel trip.

One passenger steamer and the Cuba, flagship of the Cuban fleet, conveyed approximately 170 Cuban officials and Pan-American Congress delegates to Mariel, a picturesque port west of Havana and noted in Cuban history as the turning point in Cuba's fight for freedom.

It was there that Gen. Maceo, negro hero, lost his life after he had drawn Spanish forces to that point to allow Cuban soldiers free entry into Havana.

Departing at an early hour in the morning the official party headed by Martinez Ortiz, secretary of state, and composed of the majority of the conference delegates, landed at Mariel to be the guests of the El Morro Cement Co., whose plant was visited and at whose country club a luncheon was given.

Americans at Luncheon.

The United States was represented at the luncheon by Charles Evans Hughes, chairman of its delegation; Judge Morgan J. O'Brien and Leo P. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union. The Americans had preceded the ships by motor car and were waiting at the Mariel dock when the rest of the party landed.

In one respect the Mariel party provided historical interest, for a 3-mile drive to the memorial statue of Gen. Maceo was the first act on the program. In an isolated spot on the beach, where Maceo had landed his 25,000 soldiers and where he fought the Spanish and lost his own life, a massive monument has been erected. Here delegates of the Latin America gathered to hear the early chapters of Cuban independence and its fight for freedom from Secretary of State Ortiz, who gave the early history of Maceo.

Details of personal experiences followed from Gen. Froyer de Andrade, who honored the memory of the martyred soldier.

After the Maceo exercises a visit and inspection of the Morro cement plant was made. This is a subsidiary company of the Legation of Honor to-night.

Listeners Join Fight On Sales Over Radio

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—A campaign against direct selling by radio opened today with circulation in Iowa of 450 petitions asking that the radio law be amended to make the practice illegal.

The petitions brand direct selling as unfair competition and a menace to the retail business structure of the country.

Francis St. Austell, president of the Iowa Radio Listeners League, said today that plans are under way to circulate similar petitions in fifteen other States.

Iowa newspapers, he said, will be asked to publish ballots in support of a petition to get a thorough poll on direct selling sentiment.

Rutgers Students Battle 10 Hours at Class Feast

Sophomores Raid Freshmen, Carry Many Off—Fight Begins With Crockery in Inn and Continues in Snow—240 Face Court in Morning.

Special to The Washington Post.

Red Bank, N. J., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—There was no attendance at either freshman or sophomore lectures today at Rutgers University. Instead the members of both classes attended a joint lecture before Justice of the Peace Elmer Walworth here. He sent them back to college 340 strong—and weak for the time being. One, a freshman, was unable to attend. He, Theodore Wysocki, was in Middletown General Hospital with severe head injuries.

The 241 had been played out by a 10-hour battle in which 11 Red Bank policemen and 3 State troopers had not been of much practical use. The freshmen had outnumbered the sophomores a trifle over 14 to 1, but these odds did not mean anything. So the police hung around the edge of the battlefield and waited until both sides were exhausted. The res. was easy.

It was, of course, the usual sort of thing. The freshmen had planned to hold their annual banquet in the Smoke Shop Tavern on the outskirts of Red Bank. That they might eat in peace, they arranged beforehand for a police guard—the 11 Red Bank policemen and the 3 State troopers. The freshmen arrived about dusk, 141 of them. A moment later an innocent-looking moving van rolled up before the tavern door. The police guard, not being versed in the classics, had no reason to suspect the van. They had never heard of the wooden horse or the priest who feared the Greeks even when they came bearing gifts.

Then the back of the van opened. A hundred sophomores leaped out and

JONES MARINE BILL PASSED IN SENATE BY VOTE OF 53-31

Administration Fight to Restrict Control by the Government Fails.

19 REPUBLICANS JOIN DEMOCRATS ON ISSUE

Author of Measure Declares No Limitation as to Ownership Needed in Law.

(Associated Press.)

Over the opposition of President Coolidge and administration leaders, the Senate yesterday passed the Jones bill to expand the American Merchant Marine and to maintain it under Government control.

A combination of Democrats and Western Republicans sent the measure to the House by a vote of 53 to 31 after rejecting by overwhelming vote a long series of amendments put forward in a last-minute attack by those who contended the measure would establish a policy of permanent Government ownership and operation of the merchant fleet.

Heeding the demands of President Coolidge for early transfer of the Government fleet into private hands, administration Republicans centered their attack on the provision of the bill requiring unanimous consent of the Shipping Board for the sale of any vessels hereafter.

Edge Amendment Rejected.

An attempt, however, by Senator Edge (Republican), New Jersey, to modify the bill to authorize sale of ships by a majority vote of the board was rejected, 62 to 31. A move by Senator Willis (Republican), Ohio, to permit sales by vote of 5 to 7 members of the board was then turned down, 47 to 37.

Finally, on the closest vote of the day, the Senate rejected an amendment by Senator King (Democrat), Utah, adding a provision that nothing in the language of the bill should be construed as committing the United States to a policy of permanent ownership and operation of the merchant marine. It lost 43 to 58.

Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, author of the bill, argued there was nothing in the measure requiring such an amendment. But Senator King insisted that the provision requiring unanimous consent of the Shipping Board for the sale of ships established a "Government ownership policy."

Twelve Democrats joined with 26 administration Republicans in support of the bill.

Longworth's Sister In Legion of Honor

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, Jan. 31.—The Comtesse de Chambrun, formerly Miss Clara T. Longworth, of Washington, was named a chevalier of the Legion of Honor to-night.

The Comtesse de Chambrun, who is the wife of Gen. Comte Adolphe de Chambrun, is a sister of the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives. She has written a number of books in French and is a doctor of letters of the University of Paris.

Infantile Paralysis Quarantines Town

Marshfield, Ore., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Marshfield was put under a quarantine for two weeks and schools were closed today in an effort to check the spread of infantile paralysis. The measure followed the death of H. L. Johnson, high school science teacher.

All school children were ordered confined to their homes and no child under 16 will be permitted to enter or leave the city while the quarantine is in effect.

Pennsylvania Senator Would Succeed Self After Six-Year Term.

(Associated Press.)

Senator David A. Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, who has led the Senate forces fighting for the seating of Senator-elect William S. Vare, Republican, of the same State, announced yesterday that he would be a candidate to succeed himself in the April primaries.

Thus far Senator Reed is without opposition, but the time for filing to run in the Republican primaries does not expire until March 8.

In his announcement Senator Reed said he had done his best to serve the interests of Pennsylvania and her people and had stood squarely for the principles of the Republican party. He added that he had "joined heartily in the program of national economy as instituted by President Coolidge and ably supported by that distinguished Pennsylvanian, Secretary Mellon."

Mr. Reed is rounding out his first term in the Senate. His home is in Pittsburgh.

CALIFORNIANS IN HOUSE BACK HOOVER CANDIDACY

Republicans in Delegation Unanimous in Action, Says Army Statement.

SENATORS ARE ABSENT

(Associated Press.)

The Republican members of the House from California last night unanimously endorsed Secretary Hoover for the party's presidential nomination. Representative Curry, dean of the delegation, said later that all ten of the California House Republicans were present and that there was no dissenting voice.

The action was taken, he declared, not from a sectional point of view, but because of Mr. Hoover's national and international prominence. The two senators from his State, one of whom is Hiram Johnson, a formidable presidential candidate in the past, were not invited to attend the meeting, Mr. Curry added. The following resolution was passed:

"We, all the Republican members from California of the House of Representatives, unanimously and unreservedly endorse Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce in the Cabinet of President Coolidge, for the nomination for President of the United States at the forthcoming convention of the Republican party at Kansas City.

"Although a native of Iowa, he has been continuously a resident of California for more than 35 years. We are proud, therefore, to propose his name as our choice for President.

"Because of his well-known achievements as an engineer, as a statesman and as a humanitarian, because of his character as a man, and because we believe he will make a great President of the United States, we hereby pledge him our heartiest support in behalf of his nomination and election."

Seven Persons Killed In Factory Collapse

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Porter Steagall, 21, a junior at the University of Alabama and son of Representative Henry B. Steagall, of the Third Alabama District, died shortly after noon today from the effects of poison which he was said to have swallowed several days ago.

The youth was said to have been despondent over a love affair.

The father is widely known in Alabama and has served in Congress since 1914.

HOOVER TO RETAIN PLACE IN CABINET DURING CAMPAIGN

Purpose Is Made Known in Reply to Query at White House.

LEADERS SEE CHANCE ENHANCED BY PLANS

Willis Changes Arrangements for Ohio Votes—Dates for Reed's Tour Announced.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Coolidge has no objection to Secretary of Commerce Hoover remaining in the Cabinet during the conduct of his presidential campaign, and this is what the Commerce Secretary plans to do. It is now considered unlikely that there will ever be any formal declaration of his candidacy. His public appearance will be in his capacity as Commerce Secretary and not as an aspirant for the Republican nomination.

That the President does not expect the Secretary to resign to further his campaign was made known at the White House yesterday. It was not said in so many words that the President is agreeable to the Commerce Secretary's retention of his Cabinet post, but that was the interpretation placed upon his answer to an inquiry as to whether he expected Mr. Hoover's resignation within the next few months. He had no information, it was said, one way or the other.

Inasmuch as it has been a moot question for some time, however, and as the Hoover campaign is now being carried on in full force, the President's attitude was generally taken as agreeing with the Commerce Secretary's intention to retain his place. Heretofore, the White House has avoided comment on the subject.

Called President Hoover. Incidentally, the White House, in commenting yesterday, referred to Secretary Hoover as "President Hoover." Generally this was considered to have been a slip of the White House tongue, but it was one that caused several Senators to dig up all the information they could get on the processes of the White House mind.

There was some suggestion that it may have been the subconscious working of the White House mind.

As an illustration, the story was told by one of those close to the President of a man and his wife who were about to visit the widow whose husband had been hung. The wife was fearful lest her husband say something suggesting the untimely end of the widow's spouse, and she repeatedly warned him to be careful of his conversation. The strain on the husband's mind was too much. As he walked into the widow's house he asked: "Where shall I hang my coat?"

Coolidge to Be Neutral.

It has been repeatedly emphasized by friends of the President that he plans to remain neutral in the pre-convention campaigns, and the slip was accounted for in many quarters by his intense determination to hew to this course.

That the Commerce Secretary's chances are enhanced by the fact that his campaign is being conducted from the Cabinet is generally admitted, and admittedly too, it will be hard for his enemies to dissociate him from the strong suggestion that he is in the President's favor, or even that he is the President's choice. It is another thing, though, it is pointed out, for the President really

STRAUS, AT 80 YEARS, GIVES TO PALESTINE ANOTHER $100,000

Famous Philanthropist Observes Anniversary of Birth at New York Home.

POINTS OUT JOKINGLY
CITY OWES HIM DOLLAR

Greatest Pleasure Man Can Enjoy, He Says, Is Giving: Thousands Send Messages.

New York, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Nathan Straus, one of America's most famous philanthropists, celebrated his eightieth birthday today by contributing $100,000 to the United Palestine Appeal for reconstruction work in the Jewish homeland. The gift increased his total contribution to the cause to more than $1,500,000, including $250,000 for a health center in Jerusalem and $75,000 for a health center in Tel Aviv.

In excellent health and high spirits, he spent the day receiving callers and reading telegrams, congratulatory from hosts of friends in all parts of the world. A bound volume containing messages from President Coolidge, governors of most of the States and men in every walk of life was presented by Herman Bernstein, a friend of long standing.

Other messages came from John D. Rockefeller and George Peabody, both past 80 years and both noted for philanthropy. Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker added their felicitations. Mr. Straus talked with zest to many callers.

City Owes Him Dollar.

"Do you know," he said, "the City of New York owes me a dollar. I gave it a milk station for a dollar a year and I haven't yet paid for this year."

Mr. Straus' first big charity, he recalled, was a gift for a building for the Trades Sanatorium in the Adirondacks before 1900.

"That was only a starter," he said. "I've been giving ever since. My first milk station was established in 1893, and now there are 297, distributed over 36 cities. The important thing now is to carry them, and to maintain them, to communities of less than 10,000 population. It can be done, and the results would be worth any expense."

Mr. Straus has devoted all his energies to charity since 1913, when he retired from active participation in the affairs of R. H. Macy & Co., which he and his brothers owned.

Giving Is Greatest Pleasure.

Born in Bavaria in 1848, he was brought to America six years later, settling in Georgia with his parents. His father was a merchant, and he was in the Civil War, and came to New York to establish the firm of L. Straus Sons, importers of crockery and glass. The firm prospered, and later took a small basement shop in the Macy Department store, which the sons eventually purchased.

Since his retirement in the interest of philanthropy, Mr. Straus has been known principally for his interest in the rebuilding of Palestine and his distribution of pasteurized milk. His gifts to these charities annually have totaled more than his income.

There is no greater pleasure in life than giving, Straus asserted in a statement issued in connection with his birthday. "Give while you live," he advised, "and life becomes truly worth while."

Lane of Light Guides Chicago-Dallas Planes

Chicago, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Night flying of airmail and express between Chicago and Dallas will be inaugurated tomorrow night over the Nation's second path of light, a 995-mile stretch illuminated by seventy-five 24-inch revolving electric beacons and many lesser flashes, or blinkers. Thus the great Southwest and the remainder of the country will be brought 24-hour mail hours nearer each other.

Effective tomorrow a new passenger, mail and express service between Chicago and Kansas City also will be inaugurated by the National Air Transport, Inc., which holds the mail contract.

The Chicago-Dallas route has been lighted under the direction of the airmail division of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the United States Department of Commerce. It is the second lighted airmail and express route of this country.

COSGRAVE OFF FOR U. S. AFTER CANADIAN VISIT

Outlines Free State Economic Development Before Leaving for New York.

WILL SAIL ON SATURDAY

Ottawa, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—William T. Cosgrave, head of the Irish Free State, left for New York today after a 24-hour visit to the Canadian capital which concluded with a speech detailing the economic development of the Free State.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Canadian Club shortly before his departure at 4 p. m., Cosgrave described the efforts of his administration to settle the political problems with which the Irish Free State has been beset, and expressed optimism and confidence for the future.

Discussing the Free State's financial situation, Cosgrave said his government had followed its policy of paying its way to such an extent that in the last three years it had emerged with a surplus of approximately $17,000,000.

After thanking the people of Canada for the cordiality of the reception extended to himself and his colleagues, Cosgrave said it had been of the greatest satisfaction to Ireland in the last few years to have had the closest relations with Canadian ministers at Geneva and London. He believed the people of Canada were taking a lively interest in the affairs of Ireland and he thanked them for their interest and for their support and cooperation.

Desmond Fitzgerald, Free State minister for defense, said Canada and Ireland were partners in the world, and that a bond of real sympathy between the countries.

Cosgrave will spend three days in New York where a number of functions have been arranged in his honor. He is scheduled to sail for home on the Olympic early Saturday.

Haig to Be Buried

In Loved Scotch Soil

London, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Field Marshal Earl Haig will, at his own expressed desire, be buried at Balmoral, his estate in Scotland, bought for him by a grateful country after the World War. Interment will be preceded by a military funeral, organized by the war office in London and a funeral service in Westminster Abbey. This national tribute will take the form of a solemn Flanders poppy pageant, typifying the devotion of the field marshal to his comrades of the World War.

It was Lady Haig's wish that all wreaths and floral tributes should consist of Flanders poppies, sale of which would swell funds of soldier organizations. This request was met with an immediate and wide response.

Former Mrs. Dodge

Is In Ford Hospital

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Mrs. Lois Knowlton Manning, who last May divorced Horace E. Dodge, and four months later married Lt. Benjamin Franklin Manning, Coast Artillery officer, is in Henry Ford Hospital here, it was learned today. Mrs. Manning had been in the hospital since January 20. The nature of her illness was not revealed.

Reports that Manning's romance with Mrs. Manning was shattered were denied by Manning last November when he went to Reno, Nev.

COOKING SCHOOL NEWS

Corned Beef Croquettes

Same old corned beef hash? Perhaps—but try cooking it the French way, and see how crisp and brown the outside is and how moist and well cooked it is inside.

1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 cups mashed potatoes
3 cups finely chopped cold corned beef

Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons Crisco
1/4 cup cream
1 egg

Melt Crisco in a saucepan. Add the potatoes and cream and stir until well mixed and heated. Add the meat, salt and pepper. Take from the stove, add the chopped parsley and egg beaten light without separating. Mix well and put away to cool. When cold, form into croquettes, cover with egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep hot Crisco from 375-385° F. Serve hot, with poached egg on round of toast.

Wouldn't you hesitate to fry foods in a fat that you would be unwilling to taste? Of course you would! A cooking fat should be as fresh and sweet as milk or butter—and every good cook judges these foods by tasting them.

Just make this interesting test:

Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon. On the tip of a second spoon place a little of another shortening. Taste Crisco first, then the other shortening.

Doesn't the sweet, fresh taste of Crisco make you confident that it will improve the flavor of any food you prepare with it?

You taste your milk—
You test your eggs—

NOW—
taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

Crisco is the registered trade mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company

ARMY AIR PROGRAM BILL CUT $1,078,000 BY BUDGET BUREAU

Slash Is Disclosed as Report Is Taken Up for Debate by House Committee.

$308,766,000 IS TOTAL PROVIDED BY MEASURE

Assistant Secretary of War Davison Testified That Sum Will Prove Inadequate.

(Associated Press.) A cut of $1,078,000 by the Budget Bureau in the amount requested by the Army Air Corps for its activities during the fiscal year beginning next July was disclosed yesterday with the report to the House of the annual War Department supply bill.

Assistant Secretary Davison, in charge of Army aviation, under questioning by members of the House appropriations committee, which drafted the bill, said that in his opinion the amount approved by the budget was inadequate to carry out the second increment of the five-year Army aircraft building program.

The measure, which was called up in the House for debate within a few minutes after it had been reported, asks for the appropriation of $308,766,000 for military and $180,433,000 for nonmilitary activities of the War Department. An additional $100,000,000 is carried for permanent annual expenditures by the department.

The military appropriation is designed for continuance of an Army of 118,750 men with the provision that the required increase in the enlisted personnel of the Air Corps, brought about by the aviation building program, would be drafted from this number.

$50,000,000 for Waterways. Under the nonmilitary activities, a lump sum appropriation of $50,000,000 is provided for both maintenance and improvement of 555 rivers and harbors projects.

The committee, in reporting the bill said that after a "careful inquiry into the foundation of published reports of an ammunition shortage" it had found a deficit existed but not of alarming proportions. It added it understood the War Department proposed to submit a plan next year for the gradual replacement of the ammunition reserves.

In connection with the Air Corps appropriation, Secretary Davison, in testifying before the committee, said while the funds allotted were "quite reasonable," that "we are not able, as you know, to carry out exactly the second increment of the program."

He added, however, that the program "is being carried out substantially, and so far as it can be, efficiently, with the present conditions."

SOVIETS' LOAN MEETS BAN BY GOVERNMENT
Attempt to Sell $30,000,000 Bonds in American Market Officially Opposed.

(Associated Press.) An attempt by Soviet Russia to float part of a bond issue in the United States to raise funds for Russian railways has run afoul of the determination of the American Government that Russia's international obligations are to be met, and her debt to this country recognized, before any such undertaking through American bankers or otherwise can be sanctioned.

Newspaper advertisements offering for subscription approximately $30,000,000 worth of 9 per cent gold bonds at 95 brought the Soviet government's move to secure funds to the notice of the State Department.

Investigation by officials have convinced them that the proposal is in contravention of the American Government's policy under which financial projects involving the flotation of loans in the American market, or the employment of American credit for the purpose of making advances to the Soviet regime, are objectionable to the United States Government. The State Department is preparing to notify the bankers concerned of this objection.

Over the Coffee Cup
Whoever it was that said "For a ready reply ask a novice," certainly did know something about human nature—

THE other day I heard a grocery clerk tell a customer that you could always tell if a coffee was good if it was packed in a tin can.

5,000 Shingles Coming To Senate as Evidence

(Associated Press.) The Senate got both a surprise and a laugh yesterday when Senator Dill, of Washington, submitted a shingle for "appropriate reference" to the finance committee. It came from the senator's State, and he warned that it was the forerunner of 5,000 others which will be sent to Congress in the campaign for a tariff duty for the shingle industry of the Pacific Northwest.

"Is the senator asking unanimous consent to file 5,000 shingles?" promptly inquired Vice President Dawes, proponent of changes in the Senate's rules.

Senator Dill explained that they would be sent to members of Congress and that there would be enough "to cover the roof of this Capitol Building."

SENATE SHIP BILL VOTE DEFIES COOLIDGE

The King amendment, while 29 Democrats, 14 Republicans and the lone Farmer-Labor senator voted against the King proposal.

The final vote on the bill found 33 Democrats, 19 Republicans, and the Farmer-Labor senator in support of it and 8 Democrats and 23 Republicans in opposition.

The roll call follows:
For the bill:
Republicans—Blaine, Brookhart, Capper, Couzens, Frazier, Gooding, Howell, Johnson, Jones, La Follette, McMaster, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Odell, Robinson of Indiana, Schall and Willis—19.

Democrats—Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Broussard, Bruce, Caraway, Dill, Fletcher, George, Gerry, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, Heflin, Kendrick, McKellar, Mayfield, Neely, Ramsdell, Reed of Missouri, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Swanson, Thomas, Trammell, Wagner, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana and Wheeler—33.

Farmer-Labor—Shipstead, 1.
Total, 53.
Against the bill:
Republicans—Bingham, Borah, Curtis, Cutting, Deneen, Edge, Gillett, Gould, Greene, Hale, Keyes, McLean, Metcalf, Moses, Phillips, Fine, Rea, Pennsylvania, Sackett, Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Waterman and Watson—23.

Democrats—Bayard, Blease, Bratton, Copeland, Edwards, King, Steck and Tydings—8.
Total, 31.

Pairs were announced as follows: Stephens, Democrat, for, with Dupont, Republican, against; Ferris, Democrat, for, with Fess, Republican, against; Overman, Democrat, for, with Warren, Republican, against; Tyson, Democrat, for, with Goff, Republican, against. Senators Dale, Republican, and Pittman, Democrat, were absent without pairs.

Replacements Are Authorized.
In addition to requiring the unanimous consent of the board for the sale of any ships, the bill also would authorize an extensive replacement program of the present Government fleet. No appropriation is provided but Senator Jones announced that it would permit the Shipping Board to ask for funds to go through with its $250,000,000 15-year construction program.

Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, joined with Senators Edge, New Jersey, and Shortridge, California (Republicans), in an unsuccessful all-day fight waged against the measure, denouncing it as merely an announcement that Congress favored Government ownership of the merchant marine. The measure, they contended, provides nothing in reality.

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, ranking Democrat, on the commerce committee, and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the minority leader, led the Democrats in support of the measure.

Both complained of the present policy of the Shipping Board in selling Government ships which they declared had amounted so far to "giving them away." Both likewise stressed the necessity for immediate action to build up the fleet if the Nation is to have any merchant marine.

Al Capone's Brothers Are Again Arrested
New Orleans, Jan. 31 (A.P.)—Ralph and Albert Capone, brothers of "Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago gangster, were arrested today with two men companions as "dangerous and suspicious characters."

Orders to rearrest the Capone brothers if they were found in New Orleans after 12 noon today were issued yesterday by Superintendent of Police Healy after they had been arrested and released in court.

The Capone brothers' companions identified themselves as Leo Raggio and Mike Raymond, of Chicago. All four were released under bonds for their appearance in court Saturday.

MEDICAL CORPS IDEALS PRAISED BY SUMMERALL

45 Diplomas Presented at Exercises Conducted at Walter Reed.

CLASS TO STUDY TACTICS

The ideals of the Medical Corps have always been high and will remain so, Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Army chief of staff, told graduates of the Army Medical, Dental and Veterinary schools at their commencement exercises yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital. Praising the work of commissioned, nursing and enlisted personnel in peace and war, he said, "In spite of difficulties at times in securing young men for vacancies, those responsible have wisely refused to lower the standards for admission, but rather have increased them and opportunities for advancement were improved. The result has been a carefully selected group of professional men, whose education, personality and character have guaranteed superior efficiency."

He declared that by affording opportunity for specializing in the service schools, and to a small extent in medical schools, the Medical Corps has developed specialists in every department and has kept abreast of the profession in civil life. "Wise administration has been shown further by retaining the examination for promotion, while the rest of the Army discontinued such a requirement," was his comment.

Diplomas were presented to 29 graduates of the Medical School, 9 of the School of the Veterinary School, Col. Henry C. Fisher, commandant, Medical School, presided. Chaplains Alfred C. Oliver, Jr., and Benjamin P. McNeary officiated in the religious part of the exercises. The Army Band furnished music.

In the Medical School graduating class were First Lieutenants Stanley K. Livingston, 831 Whittier street northwest; Horace P. Marvin, 1304 Floral street northwest; and Capt. James R. McDevitt, Silver Spring, Md. The graduating classmen will go to Carlisle Barracks, Pa., until June for a course in field service and tactics.

PACIFIC FLEET GOING TO DRILL AT HAWAII

Two Months Will Be Spent in Tactical Maneuvers and Gunnery Exercises.

The fleet based on the Pacific Coast will sail April 18 from San Francisco to Hawaii for two months' tactical maneuvers and gunnery exercises. Battleship divisions 3, 4 and 5, destroyer squadron 12, the aircraft squadrons and submarine divisions 18, 19 and 20, battle fleet, with light cruiser division 2 of the scouting fleet, will leave the San Diego, Calif., area April 8, holding tactical exercises en route to San Francisco where it is scheduled to arrive April 17. Sailing again the next day the fleet will engage in problems, tactical exercises and gunnery practice as it proceeds to Hawaii.

LAWRENCE AWARDED 1927 COLLIER TROPHY

Air-Cooled Engine Held Greatest Aviation Achievement in America.

Charles L. Lawrence, pioneer in the development of the air-cooled engine in America, has been awarded the Collier Trophy for 1927 for the greatest achievement in aviation in America, the value of which has been demonstrated by actual use during the preceding year, the Collier Trophy committee of the National Aeronautic Association yesterday announced.

The original model of the air-cooled engine was designed by Mr. Lawrence in 1921, and outstanding performances of the engine during the year 1927 embraced records of national and international interest. Some of the notable flights made during the last year with Mr. Lawrence's air-cooled engine were:

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flights from San Diego to St. Louis, St. Louis to New York, New York to Paris, and Washington to Mexico City; the flight of Chamberlain and Levin from New York to Eisleben, Germany; the flights of Byrd, Astoria, Balchen and Noville from New York to Ver-Sur-Mer, France; the flights of Brock and Schiele from Harbor Grace to Tokyo, Japan, and the California-Hawaii flights of Mailand and Hegenberger, Goebel and Davis, Smith and Bronte and Jensen and Schlatter.

Coolidge Commends Consular Officers

(Associated Press.) John K. Davis, of Wooster, Ohio, who was American consul at Nanking, and J. Hall Paxton, of Danville, Va., vice consul there, have been promoted and commended for the service they rendered to the Americans at Nanking last March in the fighting between the warring Chinese factions.

President Coolidge, before sending to the Senate a nomination promoting Mr. Davis to a class 3 foreign service officer, wrote to Davis, now serving as first secretary of legation at Peking. He commended him for his distinguished service, his zeal and courage, saying it set an example for officers of the foreign service and enhanced the prestige of the service. Paxton also has been promoted in the unclassified service. Secretary Kellogg had previously transmitted the thanks and commendation of the State Department to both Davis and Paxton.

COOLIDGE RECEIVES NEW GERMAN ENVOY

President and Ambassador Exchange Hopes for Permanent Peace.

Cooperation between the United States and Germany in preserving amicable relations was pledged yesterday by President Coolidge and Dr. Friedrich Wilhelm von Prittwitz und Gafrowitz, new German Ambassador, when the latter presented his credentials at the White House.

Friendly relations between the two nations "are charged with deep significance, both in the light of the past and the contemplation of the future, and point the way to that everlasting collaboration in the paths of peace which constitutes the greatest hope for the future welfare of all nations," the President told the diplomat.

Germany desires understanding and cooperation among the nations because she believes that "only peaceful reconstruction can overcome the deep-going consequences of war," the envoy said. "Many problems and tasks are still to be solved. The German people have the hope that in their solution the existing good relations between Germany and the United States may take effect."

Day in Congress
SENATE.
Met at noon and adjourned at 4:20 to meet at noon today.

Passed the Jones bill to expand the American merchant marine and continue it under Government control. The vote was 53 to 31.

Aroused by the action of the New York State Republican leaders in endorsing President Coolidge for another term, Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, announced that he would demand early action on his resolution limiting a President to two terms.

Senator Neely (Democrat), West Virginia, reintroduced his resolution to disqualify senators-elect from taking their seats if they spend more than $25,000 in the general election.

The Senate elections subcommittee announced that the ballots in the Ware-Wilson senatorial contest would be counted by Leon D. Ripley, former State senator of New Hampshire, and Algernon R. Clapp, of Philadelphia.

Senator Blease (Democrat), South Carolina, told the Senate that the country is fast falling into the hands of a great radio monopoly.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:20 to meet at noon today.

Appropriations committee reported the War Department supply bill, carrying appropriations totaling $309,000,000 an increase of $3,654,000 over the last appropriation, but $494,000 less than was asked for by the Budget Bureau.

Representative Hill (Democrat), Alabama, introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to erect headstones over the graves of Confederate soldiers.

Smiles of Dazzling Wonder

Your teeth are as gleaming white as any you envy. Just remove the dingy film that clouds them.

FREE 10-Day Test Proves It

HERE is a simple test that proves most of us have sparkling white teeth without ever knowing it.

This is the reason: Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it regularly every day, and your teeth take on new brilliance and whiteness.

Film is charged, too, with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Ordinary dentifrices fail to combat it successfully.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it.

Whoever it was that said "For a ready reply ask a novice," certainly did know something about human nature—

THE other day I heard a grocery clerk tell a customer that you could always tell if a coffee was good if it was packed in a tin can.

CHAOS IN LIQUOR VICTORY SEEN BY W. C. T. U. HEAD

Would Upset Industrial World, She Tells Leaders of the Midwest.

Chicago, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—The United States would be plunged into industrial chaos by the repeal of the Volstead act, Mrs. Ella A. Boole told prohibition leaders of the Nation tonight.

Speaking at a mass meeting of Women's Christian Temperance Union officers and club women from six Midwestern States gathered here to inaugurate the presidential year dry crusade, the national W. C. T. U. president charged that advocates of repeal have failed to provide any means for control of the liquor traffic.

"Those who would repeal the Volstead act," Mrs. Boole said, "also would repeal State enforcement codes, the logical sequence would be liquor traffic unrestrained by Federal or State law. The Government would be powerless to supervise or control the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquor, and even before prohibition such control was necessary and was provided. Repeal would abolish Federal control of industrial alcohol and create chaos in the industrial world."

State presidents of the W. C. T. U. from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin participated in the day's campaign conferences, devoting themselves to an effort to cement the forces of women voters in behalf of dry candidates for public office and dry planks in party platforms.

Mrs. Florence D. Richard, Ohio president, sought to lay the "fabulous idea of a crook world being bigger than our Government."

"The saloon has gone forever," she asserted. "And the bootlegger is on the wane."

Mrs. Boole classified Gov. Smith, Senator Reed, of Missouri; Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, and former Senator Wade, of New York, as wets and named President Coolidge, former Gov. Lowden, of Illinois, Secretary Hoover, Senator Willis, of Ohio, and Senator Curtis, of Kansas; former Secretary of Agriculture Meredith, William G. McAdoo and Cordell Hull, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, as friends of prohibition.

Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, Mrs. Boole asserted, is personally wet, but has voted with the drys. She challenged Vice President Dawes to declare his position on the liquor issue.

Speaking on wet propaganda, Mrs. Anna M. Deyo, national corresponding secretary, said there had not been a single shooting on the part of a prohibition officer that has not been justified by lawless acts against the officer.

Will Rogers Says Check Will Cure Sight of Dempsey

Special to The Washington Post.

Beverly Hills, Calif., Jan. 31.—News of the day: Coolidge in a speech told what the budget system had saved, and Congress sat and licked their chops. They could see a new postoffice in every line. Papers said Dempsey's eyes are bad. You shake Tunney and a half million check in front of him, and you will find he can still put on enough glasses and gloves to see both objects.

Been reading about the weather in the East. We have had it here, two heat prostrations yesterday, and one bather went out too far.

James Needham, Coal Operator, Dies at 56

Chicago, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—James Needham, 56, president of the St. Paul Coal Co. and general superintendent of all the coal properties of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad, died today at Maquoketa, Iowa.

Needham was a member of the University of Illinois all-time football team, earning his letters in 1891 and 1892 at guard position, playing with George Ruff, athletic director of the State University. Needham was one of the greatest linemen ever graduated from Illinois. He also starred in baseball, winning two letters.

rites for William Waller

Veteran Bank Employee to Be Buried in Rock Creek Cemetery Tomorrow.

Funeral services for William Waller, 70 years old, of Hammond Court apartments, vault custodian of the American Security & Trust Co. for the last ten years, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 o'clock in St. Margaret's Episcopal Church by the Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, rector. Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Waller died at his home yesterday after an illness of two months. Born in New York, he graduated from Columbia University and, prior to his service with the local trust company, he was employed as field auditor of the Standard Oil Co. He was a resident of this city for the last 24 years, senior warden of St. Margaret's Church and a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Ruff Waller and a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Waller.

LAND CLAIM TRACED TO 6TH U.S. PRESIDENT

Heirs to John Quincy Adams File for Property on Calvert Street.

Proceedings were instituted yesterday by John Quincy Adams Johnson and others claiming to be the owners of a large tract of land near the Calvert street entrance to the Zoo Park, formerly used by the Colored Union Benevolent Association as a cemetery. The plaintiffs claim to be heirs in law and next of kin of President John Quincy Adams. The defendants named are the Colored Union Benevolent Association and George E. Emmons, Harry A. Clarke and Whitefield McKinley, trustees.

In the bill, filed by Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert, R. H. Yeatman and George D. Horning, Jr., it is stated that the late President Adams was the owner of the land in dispute, which, according to the best information available, is worth about $200,000.

When President Adams died, February 23, 1848, he left a will, a copy of which has been filed in the District Probate Court, devising this property to his son, Charles Francis Adams, as trustee, to pay the profits therefrom to his granddaughter, Mary Louisa Adams, as long as the property remained unsold, but with directions to sell the property with the consent of his granddaughter, and to invest the proceeds for her benefit.

The court is asked to pass a decree declaring the plaintiffs to be the legal and equitable owners of the property.

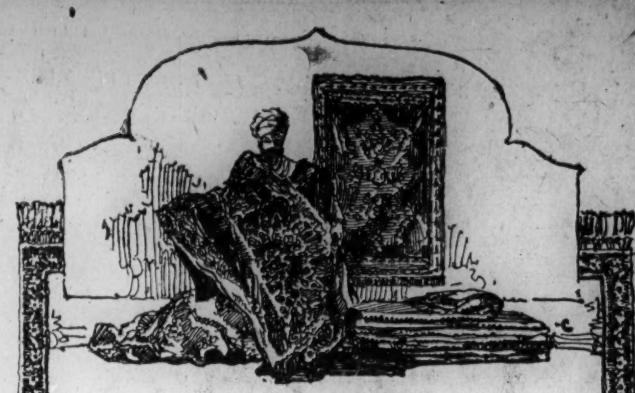

New Oil Field Opened By Gusher, Is Belief

McElroy, La., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—While being gauged after coming in several days ago as a small gas well, the Gulf Refining Co.'s No. 3 well blew in from a depth of 1,650 feet today and began flowing at a rate of 10,000 to 12,000 barrels daily.

The well in Ascension Parish is the first to come in east of the Mississippi in Louisiana and is believed by oil men to have opened up a new field. The nearest productive field is 100 miles from McElroy in southwestern Louisiana.

UNDER HIS OWN FLAG.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh yesterday accomplished a flight that would be regarded as a most remarkable achievement by any other aviator, but which in his case is taken for granted as a part of the day's work. Leaving Maracaibo, Venezuela, at 6:15 a. m., he flew 1,000 miles on a curved route over the Lesser Antilles to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, arriving at Charlotte Amalie at 4 o'clock p. m., on schedule time. It was a superb feat of airmanship. Col. Lindbergh is now under the American flag, for the first time since he left Bolling Field.

As an ambassador of good will, with no credentials except his smile, Col. Lindbergh has been greeted with extraordinary cordiality by the people of Mexico, Guatemala, British Honduras, Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia and Venezuela. No ambassador has ever received such testimonials of esteem or made so many friends. Age as well as youth has been eager to render homage to the daring youth who personifies the new era of mankind. He has been hailed not only as an American but as a citizen of the world, knowing no boundaries and speaking a language that every nation can understand.

Col. Lindbergh is now the guest of the stepchild of the United States, the neglected Virgin Islands. The only part of the Constitution of the United States that operates ex proprio vigore in that region is the eighteenth amendment; and the islanders have no reason to know that the United States recognizes any other parts of the Constitution. Perhaps Col. Lindbergh's visit may direct attention to the forlorn economic condition of the Virgin Islands and induce Congress to bestir itself in their behalf.

THE CASE OF JAMES M. BECK.

The right of James M. Beck to hold a seat in the House of Representatives from the First District of Pennsylvania is challenged on the ground that he is not an inhabitant of that State.

It may be regarded as a salutary rule that a man who serves honorably in public life should not be denied rights that he would have possessed in private life.

It happens in Mr. Beck's case that he was born in Philadelphia, and after long public service in Washington and private law practice in New York he again became an inhabitant of Philadelphia in 1926. He and his family occupied an apartment there, he paid taxes, belonged to clubs, and voted. One year and five months after he resumed his residence in Philadelphia he was elected to Congress.

Mr. Beck has long had a home in Washington. It is now urged that because of this fact he is not an inhabitant of Pennsylvania. But the discussion in the constitutional convention, cited in Mr. Beck's brief, brings out the point that the framers of the Constitution intended by the word "inhabitant" to provide against the exclusion from Congress of men who may have been "absent occasionally for a considerable time on public or private business."

Dozens of cases could be mentioned in which men who have performed great public services could be excluded from Congress if the word "inhabitant" should be as narrowly applied to them as it is proposed to apply it in Mr. Beck's case. Gen. Pershing is a Nebraskan, but it might be contended that he is not an inhabitant of that State. Would anybody care to raise the point if he should be elected to Congress?

The ordinary citizen, who brushes aside law technicalities in these matters, is apt to say in Mr. Beck's case that a man who was born in Philadelphia and who votes there is qualified to represent one of its districts in Congress, notwithstanding the fact that he has spent much of his life elsewhere.

BIRDS OF THE AIR.

For the last seven years the Biological Survey has been "keeping tabs" on the birds of the air. During that period 234,652 birds of various species have been caught, banded with identifying tags, and released. Up to June 30, 1923, returns had been received from 1,746 of these wanderers, and since that date and up to December 31, 1926, the returns received numbered 10,358. A thousand or more volunteers interested in ornithology have heartily cooperated with the survey, and it is largely through them that the work of banding and reporting results has been so extensive.

"Students interested in investigating the habits of birds through this method will be greatly aided by the records which the Biological Survey has prepared," says Mr. Lincoln, who is in charge of this work. He believes that time is not far distant when it will be possible to prepare reports concerning the migrations and habits of certain species, based largely on the banding data that have been received and which are constantly coming to the survey. It is believed that the study will be beneficial in many ways aside from the scientific facts which may be developed. Those interested in the subject may obtain copies of a pamphlet just published by the Department of Agriculture, which may be had without cost by asking for Technical Bulletin, No. 327.

THE JONES BILL.

The Jones bill has passed the Senate by the vote that was foreshadowed. It contains a provision which prevents the transfer of ship lines to private hands except by the unanimous vote of the Shipping Board. This provision has given rise to prolonged debate, and has been widely regarded as an attempt to perpetuate Government ownership and operation of the merchant marine. Senator Jones, however, has answered this argument by stating that Congress could at any time modify the provision in question.

Apparently the drastic rule requiring unanimity in the Shipping Board is aimed to prevent the consummation of deals tending to permit the development of monopoly in shipping. The proposal for sale of the Pacific Coast ship lines, upon which bids are returnable on February 10, has been severely criticized because, while the objective in establishing certain lines was to insure regular service to the Philippines, the Shipping Board's specifications do not require the operation of the lines to the Philippines at all. The arrangement to dispose of the Pacific ships was made by a vote of 3 to 2 in the Shipping Board, with one member absent and another not yet qualified. It is assumed that President Coolidge had this arrangement in mind when he stated in his message to Congress that the Shipping Board too often yielded to the pressure of private interests.

There are intimations of an inquiry by a Senate committee into the workings of the Shipping Board. Probably it would be well to let in the light. If the interests of the public have been safeguarded no harm will come to the members of the board by any investigation that may be made.

In its larger aspects the merchant marine problem is not helped or hurt by the Jones bill. The country will be left without a definite policy, whether the bill becomes law or is vetoed. It is still necessary for Congress to assist private enterprise to build up and operate the merchant marine or tax the Treasury for a Government service.

DIAMOND SMUGGLING.

Diamond smuggling, long bothersome to United States customs officials, has been especially active in recent months. Various estimates have been made public as to the great value of the jewels smuggled into the country. A New York jeweler's association, some weeks ago, issued a statement to the effect that smuggling was having a serious effect upon legitimate dealing in diamonds, and for some time advertisements were inserted in the metropolitan press calling attention to the rigorous fines and penalties prescribed against those bringing in undeclared jewels. Whether this campaign proved effective or not has not yet been disclosed.

Several weeks ago a committee of jewelers appeared before the House ways and means committee asking for protection or the removal of the tariff on diamonds on the ground that their business was being ruined by the ability of smugglers to sell jewels at cut rates. An investigation was undertaken by Government agents, as a result of which a large number of arrests are expected.

The arrest of an assistant steward of the liner Lapland for diamond smuggling undoubtedly came about as a result of the greater activity of the Government investigators. This man was apprehended with $100,000 worth of diamonds concealed in the heels and toes of his shoes. He confessed that he had brought in no less than 55 consignments of diamonds during the past year, in packages averaging $15,000 in value, and said further that he had been able to deliver all of them without trouble, and according to his instructions. As a result of the confession, in which many names were mentioned, Federal agents believe that they will be able to break up an Antwerp-New York smuggling ring which they claim has been doing an annual business of more than $1,000,000.

Diamond smuggling is of two types; that engaged in by professionals and that undertaken by amateurs, usually women, actuated by the desire to avoid paying duty. The amateurs violate the law no less than the professionals, however, and both are the object of the Federal anti-smuggling activities.

MARRIAGE AND BIRTH RATES.

In 1926 there occurred in the United States 10.2 marriages per thousand of population. Each marriage necessarily involving two persons, one marriage for every 50 persons was therefore recorded. The marriage rate in the United States has always been high compared with that of European countries, largely because of the favorable economic conditions prevailing here. The highest marriage rates for the country are to be found in the general area which includes Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi. The lowest are to be found in New England. Florida has in recent years had the largest number of marriages and Delaware the fewest.

Marriage registration for the country as a whole began in 1887. In that year the marriage rate was 8.7 per thousand of population. By 1900 it had risen to 9.5, and since 1905 the normal rate has been 10.

Great significance necessarily attaches to the age of marriage. The statistician of a life insurance company finds that the trend in modern times toward delayed marriage has caused a wider discrepancy between the normal age for matrimony and the economic age—that is, the age when marriage becomes a financial possibility. To this may be attributed the increasing pressure of many serious problems. As birth rate is directly dependent upon the marriage rate, it follows that the percentage of births throughout the country at large are a fairly reliable index of family stability.

At the foundation of the Republic the population was increasing at the rate of approx-

mately 3 1/2 per cent annually. This was due chiefly to the extraordinarily high birth rate and the surprisingly low mortality. In those early years the birth rate was probably around 50 per thousand. By 1880 it had fallen to 40. Since then there has been a steady decline, until at the present time the birth rate in the United States is only about 21 per thousand, or one-half of what it was at the beginning. It would be still lower were the country not reaping the benefit of the high rate of past decades, which accounts, incidentally, for the disproportionate number of persons both in early adolescent and in middle years.

Again, if the rural and Southern half of the country be eliminated from consideration, it is plain that a very large part of the national birth rate today is the result of immigration. Were it not for this, the national birth rate would unquestionably be the lowest in the world. As it is, all signs point to the population becoming stationary within a few years.

This news will come as a surprise to the public which, conscious of the great territorial extent and the unparalleled prosperity of the country, has assumed that the population has continued to keep pace with other phases of the national development.

LET CONGRESS INVESTIGATE.

If Congress wishes to make a worth-while investigation, let it inquire into the disastrous effects of the fading of the mah jong fad. The profits of the American packing industry depend upon finding a use for by-products, and while mah jong flourished hundreds of carloads of shin bones of cattle were shipped to China, where they were converted into "tiles" used in playing the game. The fading out of the demand for Chinese sets in the United States was followed by a sudden falling-off in the demand for American cattle bones. There is still a call for the skeletal remains of the American steer in England, Belgium, France and Germany where artisans in the cutlery establishments convert those shin bones into "ivory" handles for the very best steel knives; but the packing industry feels keenly the loss of the mah jong market.

Gen. Lord, Director of the Budget, in his eloquent speech Monday evening, called attention to the efforts of the Budget Bureau to reduce expenses by the elimination of waste and the conservation of supplies. He said that by preventing the waste of paper clips, for instance, several thousand dollars was saved last year, and that the Postoffice Department saves some $30,000 annually by omitting the blue strip in the canvas used in mail sacks. Gen. Lord might learn a new lesson by studying the packers' progress in the matter of eliminating waste. One Chicago concern, for instance, kills about 2,000,000 cattle each year. In the offal room of its plant, which is located in the basement, there is maintained a "jewel box" into which are emptied the contents of the gall bladder of every steer slaughtered. The vat is searched for gallstones, which are extracted, cleaned, and saved. Not more than a few hundred are found in the course of a year, but once in six months a buyer from the Orient turns up, and pays $100 a pound for all that are obtainable.

Gallstones are used as charms in the Orient, and when the market is glutted with charms the surplus is ground up and used as medicine.

Congress should look into the shin-bone-mah-jong situation. And while the committee is at it, it should ascertain whether the packing industry is profiteering in gallstones, or whether it gives the downtrodden farmer a look-in when it realizes on the contents of the jewel box.

TELEVISION.

Dr. Edwin B. Craft, of New York, executive vice president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., takes time off to do a little predicting. Television, he says, will never be a commonplace adjunct of the telephone, because seeing the person at the other end of the wire is not necessary. Obstacles, he says further, stand in the way of practical broadcasting pictures of prize fights and other events, but science is working to obviate them, and the day of perfected television is near. The cost of a television unit today would be about $10,000.

Few will dispute the assertion that television probably never will become a common adjunct of the telephone. There are uses, however, to which television might be applied to advantage. A wholesale house in New York, for instance, might find it advantageous to exhibit and offer for sale new patterns of silk to a Chicago buyer.

As for the obstacles standing in the way of "broadvisioning," if the term may be used, science may soon remove them. It has been demonstrated that pictures and moving pictures can be transmitted through the ether. There is a market for such pictures. Therefore, they will be developed. The problem of reducing the cost of television will then be tackled and solved.

NO, THERE IS NO BEGORRA.

President Cosgrave's visit of good will to this country served not only to draw public attention to the enlightened progress of the Free State but to the very delightful qualities of the President himself. A great many Irish matters hitherto debatable in the American mind were resolved by the tact and geniality of Mr. Cosgrave, who thus performed a service not only to his own countrymen but to the people of the United States as well.

Among the subjects which he clarified, one was inadvertently raised by a reporter who, by way of adding a little local color to the interview, quoted the Irish executive as having recourse, in a moment of emphasis, to the time-honored ejaculation, "Begorra." This antique hortative has been as definitely associated with the inhabitants of the Emerald Isle as the clay pipe, the jaunting car, the shillalah, or Blarney Castle itself.

It turns out, however, to be a snare and a delusion. For Mr. Cosgrave, at a subsequent interview, declared positively that he had never, to his certain knowledge, heard an Irishman say "Begorra" in his life. It seems hard to believe, but one has the word of the Irish President himself, and he ought to know. Thus does rumor perish in the face of reality.

Installment Buying.
Topeka Capital: Whether installment buying is good or not depends a good deal on the amount of the installment. The Magazine of Wall Street reports that in automobile sales when 33 per cent of cars had to be repaid, when the cash payment was 25 per cent 4 per cent failed to pay out and when it was less than 25 per cent the number of cars that had to be taken back was 11 1/2 per cent. The headline seems to be about 25 per cent for first payment in installment buying.

A UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE.
One of the most practical men in the realm of radio is David Sarnoff, the youthful vice president and general manager of the Radio Corporation of America, says Ross Whytock, in the Philadelphia Ledger. He seldom indulges in flights of fancy, yet he is uncannily accurate in the predictions he modestly makes. When I called upon him the other afternoon to ask about the future of radio, he protested that he was not a prophet, and I took occasion to remind him that if he was not now he had been. In the infant days of radio, which were not so long ago, I recalled a talk with the selfsame young man, who after considerable experience as an operator had become an executive with the old Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America. He had predicted that the day was not far distant when every home in the land would enjoy the benefits of wireless communication. How right he was millions of homes can testify.

"The great barrier to the progress of communication is that of language. If there be one thing that demonstrates the need for a universal tongue it is radio," said Mr. Sarnoff, "and I believe that the time is nearing when one will be created or adopted. Radio has eliminated miles and has brought the nations of the world more closely together, thereby increasing the desire for the interchange of thought and information. The country that emerges as the world's center of radio communication is most likely to give the world its first auxiliary language. Men of affairs realize that the adoption of a universal auxiliary language would facilitate contact between merchants in every part of the world. Science similarly calls for such a language."

Women Tailors of Tooley Street.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Referring to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's protest—printed in Monday's Post—against a certain group of women who have assumed the title of "National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League," I, with a large number of women, adherents of both the national leading parties, heartily endorse Mrs. Roosevelt's protest for the obvious reason that the title is an assumption involving and implying national membership for the women of the entire Democratic party. It is a misnomer which is misleading and, in a way, could be translated into an illegality. Furthermore, the reply sent to Mrs. Roosevelt's protest, instead of being a defense of the title, was rather an anathema for Gov. Smith, who, if he possesses no other quality, does possess that of courage.

ESTELLE THOMAS STEEL.

The Cost of the War.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Victor L. Berger estimates, on the basis of the most reliable information, that the World War cost 30,000,000 lives and some $400,000,000,000, and from the latter amount he proceeds to some astounding comparisons. With the sum expended during the war, Mr. Berger calculates that a $2,500 house could have been built, could have been fitted with $1,000 worth of furniture, could have been placed on five acres of land worth $100 an acre and given to each family in the United States, Canada, Australia, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia. After doing this, there would still be enough money left to present to each city of 200,000 inhabitants and over in all the countries aforementioned, a $3,000,000 public library, a $5,000,000 hospital, and a $10,000,000 university. Out of the balance there would still be a sum which, set aside at 5 per cent interest, would pay for all time an annual salary of $1,000 for 125,000 teachers and an equal number of nurses. Finally, having done all this, there would be a residue sufficient to "buy up" all of France and Belgium "and everything of value that France and Belgium possess."

If these figures of Mr. Berger are correct, an illustration of the cost of the war is presented in one short paragraph which, for sheer graphic description, exceeds anything that has yet appeared.

Railroad Landing Fields.

Philadelphia Ledger: A suggestion has been made that the railroad freight yards in the principal cities of the country be roofed over and made available as landing fields for airplanes. Whether this is practicable or not is for the engineers to decide, but the mere fact that the proposal is made indicates the widening field of aviation in our everyday affairs. This time may come, it seems, when the large transportation interests must for self-protection, add aerial navigation to their methods and airships to their facilities for the carriage of passengers and freight. In this they will be following the precedent already set by the railroads in adopting bus services to meet the competition of independent operators.

WELCOME TO TOSCANINI MAKES MUSIC RECORD

Leading of Philharmonic Orchestra Brings Great Demonstration From Audience.

BRAHM'S BEAUTY SHOWN

Arturo Toscanini, Italian guest conductor, and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, formed a fortunate combination which filled the New National Theatre to capacity, with many standing, yesterday afternoon at the second appearance of the orchestra here this season. The concert was given under the local management of T. Arthur Smith.

Seldom has a Washington audience displayed such continuous enthusiasm as was exhibited yesterday. It recalled Signor Toscanini again and again. At the conclusion of the program, he was given three curtain calls, a thing almost unprecedented in the history of Washington music.

Greeted with an ovation as he appeared and signaled the musicians to begin the opening bars of "Sinfonia," overture, "Le Baruffe Chiozzotte," the famous director was in thorough control of the orchestra from first to last. Throughout the concert he led without a score before him, a feat in itself, considering the difficult and intricate construction of the compositions.

Erect, poised, dynamic, artistic and graceful in his movements, he directed with ease and surety. There were no gymnastics of the baton and the left hand was used quickly, but with great effect.

The beauty that is Brahms was evoked by Signor Toscanini from the lovely "Symphony No. 2 in D major," in lyric poetry of the opening coda; the majestic measures of the adagio and the sweeping grace and charm of the finale.

Every Brahms lover in the audience, and there were many, was more than satisfied with the playing of this master's work. His tempo was particularly notable. In the opening movement many observed the unusual melodic flow of the tonality, the articulation of phrasing and delineation of the underlying musical story was a treat in itself.

Perhaps, however, the outstanding number was the enchanting "Variations on an Original Theme, Enigma," by Elgar. There was an elegance, a musical finish, a balanced artistry in these very unlike variations that should have won enthusiasm from the composer himself, had he been privileged to hear yesterday's concert. The effects in tone coloring were truly memorable.

Signor Toscanini included two selections of Honegger, his symphonic poem, "Pastorale d'Ete," and the much discussed "Pacific, 231," in his program. Out of the Pastoral he charmed many haunting bits of loveliness, while he gave an exciting, brilliant interpretation to that expressive symphonic writing, "Pacific, 231," the story of a modern locomotive done into music.

The playing of this latter composition by the orchestra, vigorously led by the guest conductor, brought the audience to one of its highest pitches of enthusiasm of an enthusiastic afternoon. Surely, no one who heard it will ever be able to regard a locomotive as a prosaic machine again. The one he portrayed was alive and demonstrated the poetry of motion and the romance of modern industry as well.

Washington will eagerly await the return of Signor Toscanini with the New York Philharmonic on March 6.

Wife Sues for Annulment.
Mrs. Annie M. Brittingham, Treasury Department employee, filed suit yesterday in Equity Court against Benjamin P. Brittingham, 1321 Kenyon street northwest, to have their marriage of August 1, 1927, at Baltimore, annulled. Through Attorney R. B. Dickey the plaintiff says that she learned that her husband had been married before, to wit, on April 14, 1910, at South Mills, N. C., and that the first wife was still living and undivorced.

Protect and beautify your furniture

In just a few minutes you can make your furniture far more beautiful—sparkling, glowing and contributing its utmost to the charm of your home.

All you need is Johnson's Liquid Wax—the greaseless furniture polish. This imparts a hard, dry lustre entirely different from the usual oily furniture polishes.

Johnson's Liquid Wax never becomes gummy or sticky. Finger-prints don't show, nor dust collect on its dry, greaseless surface.

Use it to protect the finish on your dining table. It will stop all worry over marks from hot dishes and spilled liquids, for a coat of Johnson's Wax polishes to a hard, smooth film, like a flexible glass covering.

Experts Play Radio Bridge

Bridge players who tuned in on the Radio Bridge Game broadcast last night from Station WRC, heard an expert demonstration of how to bid a semi-two-suited hand to the best advantage.

Mr. Whitehead, who was the South player and dealer, held the South: Spades, 5, 3, 2; Clubs, K, Q, J, 10, 9. Either of his long suits, Spades or Clubs, was a sound initial bid. Mr. Whitehead correctly bid the Major suit in preference to the Minor, although the Minor was longer and stronger. He said one Spade.

Mr. J. H. Ballinger, of Seattle, West, made a defensive bid of two Diamonds on this hand: Spades, 10, 5; Hearts, 9, 6, 5; Diamonds, K, J, 10, 9, 7, 4; Clubs, A, 2. Had Mr. Whitehead passed, as he lacked the two quick tricks necessary for an opening bid.

Mr. Helen M. Hubbard, of San Francisco, North, passed. Her cards were: Spades, Q, 9, 4, 2; Hearts, J, 8, 7, 2; Diamonds, Q, Clubs, 8, 6, 5, 4. With her holding of four Spades headed by a Queen and a singleton, a raise was tempting; but as her hand could not take a trick except in the Spade suit with Spades as trump, a first round pass was more conservative and would not mislead her partner.

Mr. Work, East, had support for his partner's Diamonds, but preferred to make a higher valued bid of two Hearts on: Spades, 7, 6, 3; Hearts, A, K, 10, 4, 3; Diamonds, A, 8, 6; Clubs, 7, 3.

Mr. Whitehead then went to three Clubs. Even had his partner assisted his Spades, and East had overcalled with Hearts, Mr. Whitehead would have bid his Club suit in preference to rebidding Spades, to provide his partner with an accurate picture of his holding.

His handling of his hand was quite different from that formerly used with two-suiters. The old rule was: Holding a Major and a Minor suit, both sound original bids, bid the Major in preference to the Minor, even though the Minor be both longer and stronger. As a corollary: If partner assist the suit first bid, continue with that suit without showing the second suit.

However, the old rule was based upon the assumption that the suit first bid was one of at least five cards; for, formerly, four-card suits were rarely bid initially in preference to a longer suit.

More recent practice, however, when the hand contains a Major and a Minor, both sound bids, is to bid the Major suit in preference to the Minor, even though the Major suit be one of but four cards, and the Minor one of five or possibly six.

This necessitated a modification of the corollary of the old rule given above, as follows: If partner assists the suit first bid, and such suit is one of but four cards, show the Minor suit in order to inform partner that the suit first bid is either extremely weak in top honors or one of only four cards.

Mr. Ballinger, West, after Mr. Whitehead's bid of three Clubs, went to three Spades. The normal length of his Heart suit, his supporting values in Diamonds and Clubs, and his two doubletons, justified his assist for his partner's Hearts.

North bids Three Spades.

Mrs. Hubbard, North, then said three Spades. In view of her partner's showing of two suits, Mrs. Hubbard's hand assumed a different aspect. With either Spades or Clubs as trump her hand should be good for at least three tricks, and since a two-suited hand played with one of the suits as trump may be considered worth a minimum of six tricks, Mrs. Hubbard was fully justified in her bid. Moreover, it requires less strength to raise a partner from two to three than from one to two.

Mr. Work, East, bid four Diamonds. Having shown Hearts on the first round, this bid showed that his Heart suit was not particularly strong, and that he could support Diamonds. Thus he painted for his partner a clear picture of his hand. If South passed the Diamond bid, then Mr. Work's partner, without increase of contract, could change to Hearts if he considered it the better declaration.

Mr. Whitehead passed. Although his partner had given him a belated Spade assist, he had too many losing cards to warrant a bid of four Spades. Mr. Ballinger also passed. His previous assist for Hearts showed normal support for that suit, and he interpreted his partner's return to Diamonds as a clear statement that the hand would play better at Diamonds than at Hearts unless Mr. Ballinger held better than normal Heart support. Lacking this, better

Two Thousand Were Thrilled At Mrs. Northcross' Achievements

On The Hotpoint Automatic Electric Range

TODAY there will be even more unusual demonstrations of this most modern and practical Electric Range.

Mrs. Northcross Uses

Naturally Mrs. Northcross chooses a range that is the choice of thousands of housewives and many cooking authorities the country over. You will choose it for your cooking, too, when you see how simple, easy and dependable it is. Think of cooking a complete meal while attending a matinee, club meeting or visiting! Wouldn't that be a real convenience? The Hotpoint Electric Range makes this "dream come true"—any day!

See for yourself how it can be done—today—at The Post Cooking School.

Electric Time Control.

Set one hand at the time you wish cooking to commence—the other at the time you want it shut off. You can be miles away while the actual cooking goes on!

Automatic Temperature Control.

The exact oven temperature Mrs. Northcross' recipes call for can be positively regulated with this electrically perfected device.

Fireless Type Cooker.

A built-in feature of the Range Mrs. Northcross uses. Ideal for service warming as well as cooking those dishes for which a fireless cooker is adapted.

Smokeless Broiler Pan.

An Electric Range never smokes—but the food on it may. In broiling this is avoided by this device which has a well to catch burning grease!

To End Severe Cough Quickly, Try This

For real results, this old home-made remedy beats them all. Easily prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous home-made remedy.
The immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacoli, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or your money promptly refunded. The

GELATINE

"The Highest Quality for Health"

THERE is hardly a meal in which Knox Sparkling Gelatine will not easily and surely solve some problem for the busy housewife or the hostess who is entertaining.

It is supreme for the making of delicious wholesome desserts and salads almost without end.

In re-preparing left-over foods most attractively.
In making fresh or canned fruits or vegetables go further, taste more delightful and even be more wholesome.

Invaluable in the diet of children, dyspeptics, invalids and the aged.

Being unadorned, uncolored and unsweetened Knox Gelatine combines perfectly with all other foods which ready prepared jelly powders will not do. One package makes 4 different desserts or salads, each sufficient to serve 6 persons.

Write for Mrs. Knox's Newest Book—you'll find it your most valuable kitchen helpmate. Full of original recipes and cooking suggestions. Free, if you mention your grocer's name and enclose 4c for postage.

AUTO-SIGHT BUYING PRACTICE INCREASED, EXHIBITORS REPORT

New Sales Record by Visual Study Is Predicted by Show Director.

THROUGHS VIEW EXHIBIT
DURING FIRST 3 DAYS

W. A. T. A. Head Will Describe Car Novelties Over
WMAL Tonight:

Sight-buying, that is, the purchase of an automobile without the usual demonstration of its performance process, is being practiced to a greater extent than ever before by visitors to the eighth annual automobile show now in progress at the Washington Autodrome. This fact is clearly indicated in reports of the 38 individual exhibitors to the Washington Automotive Trade Association committee in charge of the event.

Sales made on the basis of only a visual study of the new cars are greater than those made during the first three days of the automobile show last year, and, if the present rate is maintained,
the close of the exposition on Saturday night will see a new record in this respect established, according to Rudolph Jose, director of the show.

The situation is a direct reflection of the greater familiarity of today's motor car buyer with the products of the industry. Mr. Jose is convinced it does not by any means denote the passing of the performance demonstration, but it does show the great extent to which the public reposes confidence in the engineering practices and business principles of the motor car manufacturers, he declares.

Motorists Know Cars.

"Experience has been quite as effective as a teacher of motor car values as in any other sphere," he says.

"Motorists of today, in literally thousands of instances, know not only that the car will do certain things, but they know why it does those things."

Yesterday's show attendance continued to establish the keen interest of the National Capital in the 4928 automobile. From the opening of the display at 2 p. m. until it closed at 10:30, the auditorium was thronged. The peak of attendance for the day was reached during the evening, but the afternoon crowd also was larger than that of the day before. The weather which had such an adverse effect upon the opening night's attendance, will no more be a factor in deterring the crowd unless there is a further fall of snow, the exhibitors believe.

The varietal background, the tropical garden "back drop" of the show and its music are proving quite as pleasing and appealing to the throngs of show visitors as is the vivid foreground provided by the many-toned roadsters, phaetons, sedans and coupes, according to the committee.

Comments on the decorative scheme never have been so numerous nor so favorable on the part either of the audience or the exhibitors, it is declared.

Radio Talk Tonight.

Show visitors and those who have deferred their trips to the Auditorium are expected to show keen interest in the radio speech of Edward M. Wallace, president of the W. A. T. A., to be delivered tonight over station WMAL.

Mr. Wallace will describe the mechanical novelties presented in the latest cars in a speech on "The Engineering of the New Motor Cars."

The meaning of high compression, dual manifolding, larger piston displacement and a host of other features that contribute to the better performance characteristics of the models now on display will be discussed by the president of the automotive trade body.

The show enters its fourth day today. The opening hour is 2 p. m. and the close is at 10:30. The special arrangement which permits free movement among the exhibits is playing a large part in eliminating the traditional "traffic tie-ups" usually associated with the auto exposition.

Pershing and Lassiter Are Honored by Peru

Lima, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Gen. Pershing and Gen. Lassiter have been honored by the Peruvian government, which today approved a request of Senator Castro to name two new streets in the suburbs after the two American generals.

Gen. Pershing and Gen. Lassiter Pershing's successor as head of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission for settlement of Peru's boundary dispute with Chile, have been praised by the Peruvian officials for their impartiality.

Lorillard Executive Shot by a Burglar

Bloomfield, N. J., Jan. 31 (A.P.).— Edward Thompson, an executive of the P. Lorillard & Co. tobaccoists, was shot and probably fatally wounded during a struggle with a burglar who had entered his home here tonight.

Thompson and his wife heard noises downstairs, which he went to investigate. In entering the butler's pantry he was felled. He called for help and was shot just below the heart. The assault escaped.

SCHOOLMATES OF HICKMAN TELL OF HIS PECULIARITIES

guish between right and wrong," when she was at the Little Rock, Ark., State Hospital for Nervous Diseases. The hospital superintendent deposed that Mrs. Hickman's illness was temporary and generally considered curable, and that she was paroled as in a "natural state of health."

Her attempted suicide, a witness deposed, was to spite her wayward husband, and not because of any mental illness.

Late in the afternoon a final deposition from a schoolmate disclosed that C. M. McFarland had never thought of insanity in connection with Hickman until he heard of the crime. He testified that his opinion of the youth was insane was based exclusively on that crime.

Hickman's high school principal,
Otto F. Dubach, testified he was a brilliant pupil, but not as steady as his older brother, Alfred. The school principal declared Hickman to have been dominating only as are most brilliant boys. He noted a rapid pronounced decline in his school work last year, but his records showed there had been a greater decline between his

A mixed crowd of spectators strained forward in their chairs to listen to the welter of depositions on insanity read from the witness box by the defense attorneys.

Actresses in Audience.
Newspaper reporters and feature writers predominated. Two ministers were interested spectators. Nearby sat a group of motion picture actresses, and across the room a retired chief justice from Idaho, Judge Isaac Newton Sullivan, who has not missed a day at the trial. Enconced within the courtroom was Prince Serge M'Divani, husband of Pola Negri, film star.

Alfred Hickman, the prisoner's brother, was absent today, but the confessed killer's father, Thomas Hickman, sat in the place he occupied yesterday.
Judge J. J. Trabucco, whose insistent demand for speed in the hearing has featured the sessions since he took over the trial following the disqualification of Judge Carlos S. Hardy, added 30 minutes to the court day by opening this morning at 9:30 instead of the usual 10 o'clock.

With a glass of water in one hand and a sheaf of depositions in the other, Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, took the stand to continue reading what neighbors of the Hickman family back in Arkansas and others had to say of the probable sanity or insanity of the prisoner's forerunners.

In a deposition given by Don Johnson, a schoolmate of Hickman, the defendant was pictured as a brilliant scholar at Central High School in Kansas City, who turned morose over defeat in trials for the national oratorical contest in 1925.

After losing the contest, Johnson said, Hickman resigned from clubs at school, took little part in his work and was embittered.

It was last summer, Johnson said, that he first decided his friend was insane. This was before Hickman started on his career of robberies which culminated in the abduction and slaying of Marian Parker, Los Angeles school girl.

Johnson said he formed the opinion that Hickman was insane because of his many changes of jobs and plans for going to college.

Soon after his defeat in the oratorical contest Hickman wrote a note resigning as an officer of a school club, saying he "hated the whole d—n bunch," and buried his pen on the floor, the witness testified.

In a deposition by Spencer Lane, 60, of Hartford, the history of the youth's grandfather was raked over.

Otto Beck was described by Lane as having been subject to epileptic fits and a man "who didn't have sense enough to go to work and earn a living."

Grandfather was "fitted."
Lane said the grandfather was a "nutty guy" and a "fitted feller." Lane deposed Beck didn't have "sense enough to say anything when he was in a fit."

"He was what I call crazy," the Ozarkian said. "He didn't have sense enough to go to work and earn a living."

The State's cross-examination of the Arkansas witness which was read in court by District Attorney Asa Keyes, was taken by the latter's deputy, James Costello, who accompanied Walsh on the middle-west tour for evidence.

Costello brought out that Lane's opinion of Beck's insanity was based mainly on his "fitted" tendencies. The witness also admitted that Beck did support his wife by his labor.

World's Greatest Value

Looks it—Acts it and You Can Prove It— Altogether or Part by Part

The New Essex Super-Six is a delight to the eye—in lines, in fine exterior appointments and in careful finish that invites and repays the closest examination. Within, this satisfaction to eye and sense is continued and enhanced by every detail.

You sit upon high-backed, form-fitting seats, richly upholstered, and telling the fact of quality by appearance and to the touch.

You look out over the shining beauty of cowl, hood, saddle-type lamps, heavy, arching fenders, to the winged radiator figure that expresses the spirit and fleetness under your hand.

You have before you the handsome grouping of dials and meters upon the beautiful ebony instrument board.
Starter and electrolock are there to your hand, too. You do not scuff used only on costly cars—give smooth positive stopping action and, the fact as well as the feeling of security. All doors are weatherstripped. The body is of silenced construction, adding to the notably quiet operation of Essex.

And then you have the famous Essex chassis, powered with the Super-Six high-compression, high efficiency motor, that turns waste heat to power, giving brilliant, sustained performance never before known in this field.

To see, to examine, to ride in the New Essex Super-Six can only bring one conclusion—it is the World's Greatest Value—altogether or part by part.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis entertained at dinner last night at the Willard Hotel, later taking their guests to the theater.

Mrs. Light to Return.

Mrs. Charles Porterfield Light will return today from a visit to her son at Lexington, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry King, of Georgetown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lucille King, to Mr. James J. Lawler, of Winthrop, Mass.

Mrs. J. F. Bullitt, of Philadelphia, who is at the Willard, entertained a party at luncheon there yesterday.

Dr. C. A. Marvin, president of the George Washington University, will give a short talk at the tea to be given by the English Speaking Union today at the Carlton. Among the guests will be Miss Edda May Gordon, of London, who is now having an exhibition of her art at the York Gallery.

Mrs. Thomas G. Hayes, who has made her home in Los Angeles for several years since the death of her husband, the late Capt. Hayes, U. S. A., has taken an apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel for the early spring.

Miss Jane Dunnock Brewer, daughter of Mrs. James A. Dowie, of North Braddock, Va., has returned from a five-month visit with relatives on the West Coast.

Miss Brewer has canceled all engagements during a period of two months, due to the death of her grandmother, Mrs. E. Jane Dunnock Johnson, widow of the late Capt. Cornelius W. Johnson.

Miss Margaret Stover, who is a student at Goucher College in Baltimore, is passing her midyear vacation at the Grace Dodge Hotel. With her are Miss Frances Hardison, Miss Carolyn Brand and Miss Margaret Burnett, all students at Goucher.

Capt. Anton Heinen, of Toms River, N. J., is at the Carlton for several days.

These are busy days for the members of the Junior League who are working on their ball to be given at the Mayflower on February 14. Many of them are posing for the advertising, which is to be featured in the elaborate program. The most active committee at present is that which, under the able direction of Mrs. Robert Ransdell, is gathering material for the interesting and attractive program. Assisting Mrs. Ransdell are Mrs. Sidney Thomas, Mrs. Winslow Van Deventer, Mrs. Walter Edge, Miss Cora Barry, Mrs. George Morris, Mrs. Marshall Enclinos, Mrs. Edward Pinkenstaedt, Mrs. Dwight Dickinson, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Mrs. Georges Fienault, Mrs. Richard Wilmer and Mrs. Barnett Wolfe.

Rehearsals for the cabaret began yesterday at the home of Mrs. Harold Walker. Mrs. William D. Thomas is the chairman of the entertainment committee and promises a most entertaining show.

Mrs. Burr Wendell and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rush Wendell, of Cazenovia, N. Y., have taken an apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel for a month's stay.

Mrs. H. E. Walter, of Mendota, Ill., is at the Grace Dodge Hotel, where she has been joined by Miss Alice Wylie, of Mendota.

Among those at the Powhatan are Judge R. E. Milling, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lord, Miss Amy Rowe and Mr. Philip Bibault, of Lowell, Mass.

Reception at Club.

The Congressional Club has issued invitations for a reception on Friday, at 3 o'clock, when Miss Mabel Boardman will be the guest of honor.

The Congressional Club will also have an at-home on the evening of February 7, from 8:30 until 12 o'clock.

Miss Elinor Guthrie has joined Miss Angela Downey at her apartment at the Carlton for about a week.

The Italian Ambassador and Nelli Donna Antonette de Martino are sponsoring the illustrated motion picture lecture on "Tripolitania," to be given by Miss Quincy-Smith at the Wardman Park Hotel on Friday evening, February 10. The proceeds of the lecture are to be devoted to the support of "Casa Italiana," the home which has been inaugurated in New York City to take care of the young Italian students who come to this country on scholarships. Casa Italiana, which is under the auspices of Columbia University, although located in the Italian quarter on Pine street, provides a home for the young students while they are in New York City, and arranges for their transportation to other colleges and universities throughout the country.

Mrs. Wood to Lecture.

Mrs. Charles Wood will give the second of her trip around the world lectures at the Y. W. C. A. Auditorium this evening at 8:15 o'clock for the benefit of the League of the Covenant. Her subject will be "Spain and the Adriatic," and she will be assisted by Miss Audrey Sieber who will give a group of Spanish dances.

The guests attending the card party for the benefit of the District Chapter House D. A. R. will be received by Mrs. John M. Beavers, president of the Chapter House; Mrs. James Willey, State regent D. A. R.; Mrs. Alfred B. Garges, first vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Moser, second vice president, and Mrs. Rex Hays Rhoades, chairman.

The Flanders Field Unit of the American Women's Legion will give a benefit bridge party at the Chastleton Hotel, Sixteenth and B streets, this afternoon from 2 to 4:30 o'clock, to aid the World War Veterans. Following is a partial list of patronesses: Mrs. B. V. Taylor, Mrs. C. G. Calhoun, Mrs. William Foster Norris, Mrs. Hannis Taylor, Mrs. Bessie Wheeler James, Mrs. William J. Harris, Mrs. J. J. Mansfield, Mrs. C. A. Beasley, Mrs. John Focue, Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. Richard Mackay, Mrs. Ramond Patton, Miss Mary Denny, Miss Hester Baden, Mrs. Sadie B. Perkins, Mrs. Gwynne Dent, Mrs. Thomas J. Kennedy, Mrs. Frank Morrison, Mrs. Dallas Smith, Mrs. Cornelia Norris, Mrs. Edward Campbell Sheldis, Mrs. James F. Johnson, Mrs. J. G. Yates, Mrs. Harry R. Fulton, Miss Catharine Carr, Miss Virginia Price, Mrs. Ivan Bass, Mrs. Arthur C. Adair, Mrs. Franklin King, Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. Arthur C. Smith, Mrs. J. W. Pitcher, Miss Margaret Mansfield, Mrs. Elden T. King, Miss Martha Evans, Mrs. Josephine Trimble, Mrs. Edward L. Bacher, Mrs. Howard Reeside, Miss Isabel McGee, Miss Maude Smith Harding, Mrs. Elsie Wedderburn, Mrs. R. E. L. Niel and Mrs. Bessie Wheeler. The chairman of the bridge party is Mrs. Edward Campbell Sheldis, vice chairman, Mrs. James F. Johnson, chairman of prizes, Miss Margaret Mansfield.

New York Society.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rush Wendell have left the Barclay for Washington, where they will pass the remainder of the winter.

Miss Bessie Tyrrell, daughter of Sir William Tyrrell, British undersecretary for foreign affairs, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, left for Washington, where she will be the guest of the Minister and Mme. Jan Clechanowska at the Polish Legation.

Maj. Gen. David C. Shanks, U. S. A., is at the Hotel Astor from Washington.

Christian Endeavor

To Mark 47th Year

A fellowship dinner of Christian Endeavorers will be held tonight at 6:30 at the Young Women's Christian Association in observance of the forty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the organization by Dr. Francis E. Clerk, of Portland, Me.

The dinner tonight is only one of the events scheduled for the week at which the progress of the society will be noted. The intermediate section of the organization will hold a dinner Friday night at the Ninth Street Christian Church.

Winter Find You Stiff and Achy?

Colds and Chills Throw Heavy Burdens on Our Kidneys.

DO you get up these winter mornings feeling older and slower than you should? Are you stiff and achy—bothered with nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness? Are the kidney secretions too frequent, scanty or burning in passage? Then you should give some thought to your kidneys!

Colds and chills increase the poisons in the blood and bring extra work to the kidneys. When the kidneys act sluggishly, waste impurities remain in the blood and cause many unpleasant symptoms.

One is apt to feel languid, tired and achy with often nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common symptom of imperfect kidney action is too frequent, scanty or burning secretions.

Following winter's colds, many users rely on Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

LINCOLN

Balanced Excellence

It is not enough that a Lincoln car shall be outstanding in any one feature of performance; every feature must contribute its part in full to the perfection of the Lincoln car as a whole. There must not only be beauty, brilliant speed and acceleration—there must also be smoothness of operation, stamina, long life, riding luxury, ease and sureness of control. There must be safety, economy and every quality that makes the car desirable in every way... no sacrifice in any detail.

And Lincoln progress towards still greater value and performance is constant. Recent refinements in engine design have added materially to already remarkable power and smoothness. A lower chassis has added to safety and ease of control at high speed—lower lines add still more distinction to Lincoln beauty.

Every Lincoln body model is the creation of a master custom body builder—designed to match the balanced excellence of the Lincoln chassis. Every Lincoln body is truly artistic and correct in line and proportion—for this reason it is lastingly beautiful. Its finish, metal appointments and upholstery are rich in quality, but in every detail the restraint of good taste and simplicity is evident. Color combinations sparkle with beauty and originality, yet never offend by too obviously seeking attention.

It is the purpose of the Lincoln Motor Company, backed by the resources of the Ford engineering and manufacturing organization, to make the Lincoln car "as nearly perfect a motor car as it is possible to produce." No compromise is tolerated—in the Lincoln well balanced excellence prevails in every particular.

This year's graduating class of the automobile industry is now exhibiting at the Washington Automobile Show.

Beautiful in the perfection of their artistic designs, built to the latest accepted specifications—each car representing years of development—they are now ready to become producers.

How well they serve, and how long they last, depend largely upon the treatment they receive from the new owners. Since the days of the first automobile, "Standard" has provided the motorist with lubricants and motor fuels that have exactly met the requirements of each new development in motor car design. "Standard" welcomes those new 1928 cars, with tested and proven products that meet their every need. Your best guarantee is the name of the maker.

TRAIL OF $3,000,000 OIL PROFITS ELUDES EFFORTS OF WALSH

Senate Prosecutor Vainly Tries to Get Facts From Clark and Carlson, Witnesses.

BROTHER OF DAWES DISREGARDS HIS CALL

Chairman Stewart, of Indiana Standard Company, Also Fails to Appear.

(Associated Press.)

Unsuccessful efforts were made again yesterday by the Senate lands committee to penetrate the veil of mystery surrounding the organization and operation of the Continental Trading Co. Ltd., an extinct Canadian corporation which has figured extensively in the court cases growing out of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease.

For two hours Senator Walsh, of Montana, the Democratic proponent of the inquiry into what became of the $3,000,000 in profits made by this company in the sale of oil in the United States, hammered away at two witnesses—A. L. Carlson, secretary and treasurer of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co., and J. D. Clark, president of the Midwest Refining Co.—but little additional light was shed upon the situation.

The committee had planned to interrogate Beman G. Dawes, chairman of the board of the Pure Oil Co. and a brother of Vice President Dawes, and also to question Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, but neither put in an appearance, and their examination was deferred.

Senator Walsh was particularly vigorous in his interrogation of Carlson, whose company guaranteed the contract of the Continental company to purchase 33,333,333 barrels of oil from the late A. E. Humphreys, of Denver and on the same day in November, 1921, entered into a contract with the Canadian concern to repurchase the oil on its own account at an advance of 25 cents on the barrel.

Both Deny Knowledge.

Already the courts of the committee have traced $233,000 of the profits from Harry P. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, to Albert B. Fall, Interior Secretary at the time the Wyoming Naval Reserve was leased to Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co. and what Senator Walsh desires particularly to disclose is what became of the remainder of the $3,000,000.

Both Carlson and Clark denied any knowledge of the Continental company or the real circumstances surrounding the whole transaction although Carlson did concede that as a director of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co. he approved the contracts by which his company bought oil from, and guaranteed the original contract, of the Canadian concern.

To repeated questions by Walsh whether the director of the Sinclair Crude Co. made any inquiries as to what the senator called the peculiar circumstances surrounding the transaction, Carlson replied in the negative. "Did you regard that as treating your stockholders honestly and fairly?" the Montana senator demanded.

"We merely paid $1.75 for oil that sold for $1.50," Carlson protested.

Tol. All "He Knows."

"Explain how, as a member of the board of directors of your company you could approve that purchase after your company had had to guarantee the original contract?"

Carlson was silent for a time as he frequently was under the Montana's blunt questioning.

"We are waiting to hear," the senator reminded the witness.

"I've told you all I know about it," Carlson finally said.

"Are you a dummy director, or are you supposed to consider these matters?"

"We consider them," Carlson replied.

The witness was excused after being on the stand for more than an hour, but Chairman Nye said he would be recalled today and that all lawyers on the committee would meantime study the transcript carefully with a view to more grueling cross-examination.

From Clark the committee received correspondence passing between H. M. Blackmer, a director of the Midwest Co., and Stewart, indicating that they were at first interested in the direct purchase of the Humphreys' oil.

Blackmer is now in Europe and has declined to return home in response to a subpoena to testify in the Fall-Sinclair criminal conspiracy case. Stewart is expected to appear before the committee today, having made a hasty trip from Havana to his offices in Chicago after he had been requested by the committee to put in an early appearance here.

Stewart joined with Blackmer, James E. O'Neil, formerly president of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co., and Sinclair in guaranteeing the Continental contract and the committee will ask him whether he knows anything about the disposition of the profits of the Canadian company.

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 31 (A.P.).—E. R. Kemp, one of the eight men subpoenaed today by the Senate public lands committee in connection with the investigation of the Continental Trading Co., Ltd., is dead. Kemp died about three and a half years ago near Bradford, Pa. He was a director of the Sinclair Co. at the time the now extinct corporation was in operation.

Strike in Textile Factories of Spain

Barcelona, Spain, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—Laborers in the shops and factories of this city went on strike today in protest against a tax imposed on the pay of the textile workers. Later the strike spread through the cities of Sabadell and Tarrasa, two of the biggest industrial centers in the province.

Philippine Commissioner Was Exhausted by House Speech, Physicians Say.
Commissioner Pedro Guevara, of the Philippine Islands, who suffered an acute attack of heart disease at the Capitol yesterday, was reported to be "fairly comfortable" at Emergency Hospital last night.
Guevara was stricken just as he sat down in the House restaurant, where he had gone after making a long speech before the House insular affairs committee. Physicians were of the opinion that the speech had exhausted him.
After his collapse, Guevara was taken to the office of Representative Beggs, of Ohio, and given first aid by Representatives Summers, of Washington, and Eohn, of Michigan, both physicians. Senator Copeland, of New York, also a physician, and Dr. William P. Reeves, of this city, were called later. Meanwhile the ambulance arrived and Guevara was taken to the hospital.

"I have known Gordon's ointment for thirty years, having used it personally and also having had many opportunities to observe its effects when used by persons under my professional treatment.
"The results of its application have always been satisfactory, not only in cases of slight irritation of the skin but also in many very obstinate cases of chronic eruptions. It is clean and soothing in application and conducive to healing.
"I believe it to be free from injurious constituents, and from what I know of its effects I can recommend it as a safe and efficient remedy for any non-injurious irritation of the skin."

DEFENDANTS BEGIN ATTACK ON EVIDENCE IN CONTEMPT TRIAL

Justice Siddons Strikes From Record Some of Disputed Testimony in Case.

ATTORNEYS IN CLASH
ON MOTIONS TO STRIKE

Court Sustains Testimony of Two Women Jurors As to Talks With Kidwell.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.
Attorneys for the respondents in the contempt trial of Harry F. Sinclair, W.
J. Burns and four others before Justice Frederick L. Siddons yesterday partially succeeded in striking from the record evidence presented by the Government, which they considered immaterial and irrelevant. The attack was initiated as soon as the Government rested soon after court met, and is certain to continue throughout today and possibly tomorrow.

The general principle followed by counsel for the respondents was to seek to have the court eliminate from the record all testimony which was not accompanied by proof showing the responsibility of the respondents. The contention was repeatedly made that where there was no proof to show that the actions testified to had been at the direction of the respondents it could not be considered by the court in reaching its decision.

Justice Siddons in three instances agreed with the attorneys making the motions to strike, but in the majority of cases ruled that the time had not yet arrived to determine whether the evidence complained of was without bearing in the trial. In the course of his observations Justice Siddons gave hints that it was his intention to hear the defense and his position on some of the matters presented to him yesterday would be governed by the facts established when the defense rests its case.

Grave Issues in Dispute.

The more gravely disputed issues remained to be considered when court adjourned. There had been no discussion over the admissibility of the testimony of William J. McMullin or any of the other witnesses whose evidence dealt with the making and presentation of the court of an alleged false affidavit sworn to by McMullin.

The most manifest advantage gained by the respondents was the removal from the record of portions of the testimony of Edward J. Kidwell, jr.
The part stricken out dealt with telephone calls received by the juror at his place of employment. Counsel for the respondents insisted that there was nothing to show that these calls had been made by any of the respondents or any one connected with them, and the court sustained the motion. This action removes the only remaining link the Government had tending to show contact between any of the jurors and the Burns agents. The Government insisted that the acknowledged calls made on "pretext" by the agents to determine whether or not Kidwell was at his place of employment should be considered, but the court failed to agree.

The court also ruled out the testimony of Dan R. Jackson, of the Department of Justice, relating to a call which an attorney for Albert R. Fall had made in search of information respecting Horace R. Lamb, and decided that a conversation between Daniel R.
Merritt and Sergeant F. M. Dent, of the Police Department in Anacostia, should go out. The identification of Merritt by the officer remained in the record.

The most prolonged argument of the day resulted over the motion of the respondents to strike out all of the original handwritten reports of the Burns agents. The contention of counsel for the respondents was that these particular reports had not come to the notice of Henry Mason Day at all and had not been received by W. Sherman Burns until almost the time of the Government's raids upon the Burns headquarters.

The Government, through Neil Burkinshaw, assistant United States district attorney, insisted that all of the details of what was done by the operatives had a part in the case and that the acquiescence of the respondents was shown by their receipt of the original reports of the edited reports prepared for them. The reports were needed, Mr. Burkinshaw said, to shed light on the nature, motives and purposes of the respondents.

The court ruled that because they had not been seen by the respondents was not enough to force them out of the record.

Justice Siddons also allowed the testimony of Mrs. Amelia Bailey and Miss Bernice K. Heaton, the two women jurors, to remain in the record. They both had testified that Kidwell on one occasion told them he had returned to the courthouse early after the noon recess in order to "keep out of trouble."

Miss Heaton also testified that the jurors had once discussed being shadowed. The testimony of the two women was one of the few places in which the Government had been allowed to present evidence as to the state of mind of the jurors, and it was the contention of counsel for the respondents that there was nothing to show that the consciousness had been caused by the acts of the respondents and their agents. James J. O'Leary, assistant United States district attorney, argued that anything the jurors said indicating that they felt they were being shadowed was pertinent. Justice Siddons again held that it was not yet clear to him that the evidence had no legal justification in the case and refused to strike out.

The Government scored again in resisting the efforts of counsel for the respondents to strike out the testimony of Paul Grenfell, a juror, in so far as his testimony contradicted the reports of the Burns agents who shadowed him.
Col. Martin W. Littleton, of counsel for Sinclair, insisted that any false reports were outside the scope of the employment of the Burns agents and were therefore not binding.

Decision is Reserved.

The Court, however, held that the total of the facts might, as in a fraud case, determine the main fact. Justice Siddons said that he was not prepared to say what the value of this evidence standing alone might be but that its probity might be determined after all the evidence was in and that he would

RESTORATION OF LEE MANSION PROPOSED

$10,000 Item Before House in War Department Appropriation Bill.

An item of $10,000 to begin work of the restoration of the Lee Mansion in Arlington National Cemetery to its pre-Civil War condition is contained in the War Department appropriation bill, introduced in the House yesterday.
The bill also carries an item of $950,- 000 for construction work at Walter Reed Hospital. This item was included in the deficiency bill which got caught in a filibuster at the 1st session and failed to pass.

A total of $793,455 is asked for Soldiers Home, $73,610 for the Army War College and $8,500 for the Army Medical Museum.

determine its weight in the light of all other testimony.

The testimony of Charles E. Burr was attacked by counsel for the respondents because of the fact that Burr on the stand had denied knowing any of the jurors; that he, therefore, was a stranger to the case, and any contradictions he might make were not directed to matters in the rule to show cause.

Mr. Burkinshaw insisted that from such testimony it would be possible to determine whether the motive of the Burns agents had been seditary or "frame-ups" such as the Government had charged.

Justice Siddons reserved decision on the motion until today.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, M.D.
The Parent Counselor

Dr. Dean will answer all alleged letters pertaining to parent problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink on a stamped self-addressed envelope to be inclosed. Address: Arthur Dean, M.D., c/o The Washington Post, Washington, D.C.

SCHOOL PAPERS.

I AM Alumni Editor of our school paper and would like to write up something different than the "Miss Mabel So-and-so" attending this or that college. Won't you please give me some suggestions?

ALUMNI EDITOR.
I am glad to accommodate you, but the last time I offered suggestions regarding running a school paper I received nine letters from departmental editors requesting me to write them stating that they had not personally written for the advice. They explained that they were being "guided" by their classmates for seeking outside assistance.

Evidently you young folks forget that this paper is read by many young people in different towns which have several school papers. You must not jump on your own particular school editor because you think he wrote me for advice. He probably didn't. But why shouldn't he ask for advice? There is no life we learn from others. Success comes to the open mind. And now with suitable gestures of modesty may I say that I happen to be one who has been privileged to study more school papers in America and Canada than perhaps any other person?

A couple of years ago I made up my mind that I was going to find out just what—and how well—things were being done in the 10,000 school papers which are published in America and Canada. Therefore, I selected 2,000 cities and towns. From these I requested sample copies of school papers. I received 1,526 different school papers. Of these I made a complete study. As a result of this study I made a 30,000 word report on the subject and read a synopsis of it at the Scholastic Press Association's annual convention. If there is anything on which I pin my faith it is in the educational value of a school newspaper. It is a group enterprise that serves as a group organ for the most valuable investment made by any community—its schools.

earnestness, intelligence and thoughtfulness of youth I have ever run across was exhibited by the delegates at the annual spring convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This convention was obvious evidence of the importance of the press has attained in the lives of those who attend schools. A school is a very real world to young people. Athletics, sports and clubs are well established. Scholastic contests of literary nature are coming to the front. Why not further the development of the house organ—the school newspaper?

This alumni editor who asks today's question is only one editor out of 10,000 alumni editors distributed over this continent. So don't jump on your particular editor and give him any "kidding" when you read this answer. I suggest letters from alumni telling their college experience, suggesting improvements in the high school and endorsing some changes in curriculum. Why not some interviews with local business men who have attended high school, with the briefest sort of statements on "What the High School Did for Me?" Also seek straw votes from alumni on some new venture the school is about to undertake as for example the elimination of school dances, the establishing of a high school fraternity, etc.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.

The World Moves.

Are boys and girls good or bad these days? HALF CENTURY.
Answer—Well, older, at least they are all we have and if they are worse than we are, remember we brought them up. If they are worse, suggest when they begin we must remember they began all right.

Like our present-day posters youth is colorful. Like our troops, they are facing youth moves with speed. Like our press, youth suppresses little. Youth is a product of our times as oldsters are of theirs.

A GREAT LIFE FOR HIM ON THE WOODPILE.

O. H. H. writes: I know that I am pretty late with my annual "bellyache" contribution, but I have been so busy this time that I haven't had much time to commit to paper my inmost thoughts on how to keep the old pep up to the boiling point. I am still working on the woodpile and it seems to work better than ever. Every morning, no matter what the weather is, I don my old duds and start out.

After we let the fire go out last spring, I made daily trips to the creek bottom and worked on logs for this winter's supply. You see, it's this way: Squaw Creek runs through our town and there is about five miles of it in the corporation limits. Every spring we have a freshet (more or less destructive) and it always leaves a lot of trees in the bed of the creek. I go out and cut these trees out, and that is where I get my wood for exercise in winter.

There are many kinds of trees in the creek—water elm, red elm, white elm, white oak, red oak, walnut, hickory, maple, cottonwood, willow, poplar, ash, beech, sycamore and birch.

I take my car and run down toward the edge of the creek a mile or two from home, get down into the bed of the creek with my big one man crosscut saw and four pound ax, and go to work.

I cut the wood up into 36 or 62 inch lengths and pile these up on the bank by use of my car and a 100 foot rope. I do that so as not to lose the wood in case of a sudden rain and rise in the creek. Some of the wood is half buried in the sand, and I dig it out with a spade, or get a footing under it, so that I can pry it up and get the saw into it. Some of it is half under water, but I wear high rubber boots, and so that does not matter.

After I have cut up a tree or two and got it on the bank I hire our ash man to go out with his team and haul it to the back lot. Of course, it is necessary for me to go with him, for many of the logs are two feet through and one man could not handle them.

Well, doctor, it surely is a great life if you don't weaken. I got a letter from a coal dealer not long ago asking me when I was going to put in my winter supply of coal. I wrote him that I had put in twenty tons of his best four years ago, and it proved good that I still had more than half of it left.

After signing it I added a p. s. saying that I had been using a little wood now and then. Do you know, he took that letter, cut off the p. s., and stuck it in his window as a recommendation for his coal.

I am now 56 years old and feel better than at any time that I can remember for the last 40 years. An hour to an hour and a half on the woodpile every morning just keeps a tip-top. You know, I started this thing to get rid of gallstones. Well, either I am rid of them, or something. I am not both, for in the least by the old bile trouble, and never expect to be again, at least not as long as Squaw Creek and the driftwood hold out.

BOOKLETS FOR MOTHER-TO-BE.

Mrs. J. J. D. writes: Will you please advise me where to write to receive booklets on prenatal care?

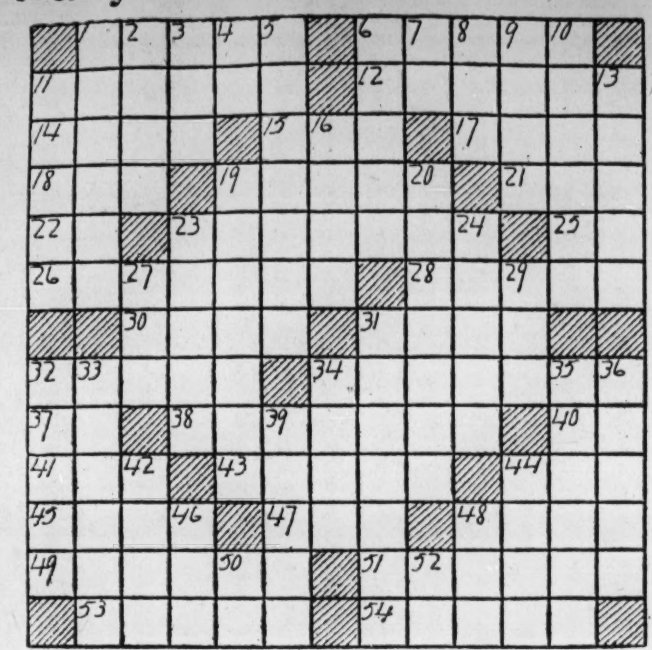

REPLY.
Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

and, if I wished to suggest that I was also entertaining for other members of my family, I would choose either my mother and sister, or my daughter and her husband and inclose their cards with mine. I do not think this necessary. I even think I rather confounding. But it might be done for whichever it was most desired to honor. The word "honor," by the way, is too much used. For very informal occasions it is quite out of place. I should regard my mother and sister, or my daughter and her husband, as just part of the family and expect them to take their share of entertaining my guests rather than treat them like guests to be entertained. Certainly, it would be quite unusual to have all their names on an invitation if even inclosed with it.

I should ask my new niece to receive with me. I should want the rest of my relations to pour out the tea and coffee, walk about talking to the company, and otherwise make themselves happy and useful. Long receiving lines have been out of fashion for years. If it is a party, expect to stay as late as 8. I think I would add one dish, like chicken salad, to the menu. Given otherwise it is not necessary.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

FIRST, a letter to "Viola." Soft molasses cake is far from difficult, you may say, and I think you came up against difficulties because you took liberties with our recipe? Yes? Consider me, for I do indeed suspect you. But even so, shall we repeat the recipe here, for you forgot your address, and it was not on your earlier communication, to which we referred to our files in an effort to locate you. We should have willingly sent this recipe to you through the mails some days ago, but this is the first available moment which was so planned. And be exact, my dear, in your work, that the result may be a masterpiece.

Soft Molasses Cake.

- 1 cupful molasses.
- 1 egg.
- 1 teaspoonful each of soda, ginger and cinnamon.
- 1/4 teaspoonful salt.
- 1 cupful hot water.
- 1/2 cupful sugar.
- 2 tablespoonfuls melted lard.
- 2 cupfuls flour.

Mix egg, sugar, lard and molasses through a sieve. Flour, soda, ginger, salt and cinnamon have been sifted. Lastly, the hot water with soda dissolved in it. Four into three well-greased, jelly cake pans. Bake in moderate oven. When cool, put together with icing.

Now for a menu for our evening meal.

Shall it be chicken with apples as a midweek dish which may be used again tomorrow, or possibly even held over until Saturday if we have adequate storage accommodations—to make our Saturday supper, following our fish dish on Friday, a simple, easy-to-plan meal.

MENU

Chicken With Noodles
Escalloped Eggplant
Buttered Beans
Bran Muffins
Chocolate Pie
Coffee

Boil a chicken slowly until tender in water to which an onion, salt, a bay leaf and a few stalks of celery have been added. When tender remove chicken to a hot platter, garnish with parsley and chicken and season the stock in which the chicken was cooked. Drop one package of egg noodles into a large quantity of boiling, salted water and cook for nine minutes (or until tender). Arrange the noodles with chicken, around the edge of the platter and pour the thickened gravy over the whole. Dash with paprika and serve at once piping hot.

Escalloped Eggplant.
Pare and cut a small, firm eggplant into half-inch cubes and cook in a small amount of boiling water until tender; then drain thoroughly. Cook an onion thinly sliced in three tablespoonfuls of butter; add a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and a half cupful of canned tomatoes. Mix with eggplant and turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover with bread or cracker crumbs, dot over with butter and bake until well browned.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

RECALLING OUR KISSING GAMES.

She is very proper now, there are furrows in her brow.
And her hair is tinged quite visibly with gray.
And I chuckled as I heard her deploring as absurd
The doings of the youngsters of today.

In a manner dignified, she most fluently decided
The passing of the generation old.
And she gave it as her view that the things the youngsters do
Are decidedly too brazen and too bold.

And she said, though not in rhyme:
"Necking parties are a crime.
We never acted that way in our youth."
But I knew her as a maid; recalling games we'd played
I knew that she had wandered from the truth.

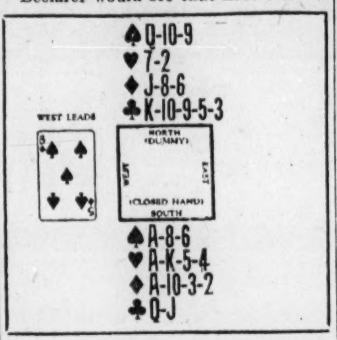

Oh, her cheeks went flaming red, as I looked at her and said:
"Marry, dear, with that you can not get away.
In the days which you review, many a kiss I gave to you
In those parlor kissing games we used to play."

To her face there came a grin, as I named "Clap Out! Clap In!"
"Post Office" as the games we used to play.
And I said: "Though older grown, let the dreadful truth be known,
We did our share of kissing in our youth."

Mr. Work's Pointer On Auction Bridge

YESTERDAY the two hands of a Declarer and the card originally led were given and the question was: How should Declarer plan his campaign as soon as he sees Dummy's cards and knows the exact 26 cards with which he must operate? The declaration was No Trump, and the hands were as follow, and the Declarer would see that East can not have any Spade as high as the Five. Applying the Rule of Eleven to the lead of the Spade Five (11-5-6) shows that exactly six Spades higher than the Five are out against West—and Declarer has them all. So the leader must hold the King-Jack-Sixteen of Spades. Declarer is therefore sure of two Spade tricks, two Heart tricks, one Diamond trick, and to make game needs four Club tricks. He can win these Club tricks without difficulty if he can get in Dummy to run Dummy's long Clubs after they have been established by the playing of the adverse Ace; but he can be sure that the adversary who has the Ace of Clubs will hang on to it if he can, until satisfied that the Closed Hand has not another Club to lead, and this can be done unless the Ace of Clubs is an improbable singleton.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

Spades trump: South Dealer; King of Spades led. How should Declarer plan the hand?

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I have just been reading with much interest the case of the girl whose fiancé objects to her working after marriage. I have been married for four years and have worked most of that time. I have a friend who has been married for six years and is still working. Each of us started out to work for six months and in each case it was distinctly a might say emphatically—against the wishes of the men we married. I believe my experience and what I know of another girl's experience fit me to offer at least an opinion. Without knowing both parties, it would be manifestly impossible for me to offer advice.

I should say the girl would be wiser and happier in the long run if she gave up the idea of working. I do not sympathize with the young man's attitude in the matter; it makes him a decidedly unattractive sort of husband, one who promises to be rather more bossy than is desirable in the long run. After all, no stigma attaches to the woman, married or single, who works today.

If the girl's interest in continuing at her position were because of her deep love for her work, I should venture an opinion that she would be justified rather more than she is—with an interest solely in the money. In order to keep her position after marriage, she is giving up more than money, she won't miss at first the things she is sacrificing, but some later day she will know how foolish she has been.

When I started on married life with a position, although I loved my work and hated to relinquish the full day for days filled only with my home, I must admit that money was the biggest consideration. I was foolish. Of course, I was not alone in this. I was a rainy day, as this girl has probably also done, but I was tempted to buy this and that for myself, my husband or my household. I kept on a year, two years, three years, still without the coveted nest egg, and by that time accustomed to an income considerably larger than my husband could provide alone. And not only that, but I had given up the finest chance in the world to teach my husband that he was head of a family and that family depended on him. I am now dependent; soon he will have another to provide for. How much easier it would have been if I would have been a wife.

"ONE WHO WON."

How Many Can You Answer?

(Answers Will Be Found on the Last Page.)

1. Was Connecticut one of the thirteen original States?
2. What was the capital of the former Moorish kingdom in Spain?
3. What State takes first rank in the mining of spelter and lead, producing from 40 to 45 per cent of the entire spelter and lead output of the country?
4. Who wrote "The Count of Monte Cristo"?
5. In what State did Paul Revere's ride take place?
6. What does a falling barometer at sea indicate?
7. What is the wireless call of distress of ships at sea?
8. Where is the Democratic national convention to be held?
9. What is the last name of the President of Cuba?
10. What is the rest of this phrase: "A rolling stone gathers—?"

(Copyright, 1928, Edgar A. Guest.)

The ability of the Declarer to make game therefore probably depends upon whether he can find an entry in Dummy after Dummy's Clubs are established. This he will not be able to do unless he makes it by playing his Ace of Spades the first trick, even although Dummy already has won that trick. Overtaking will not cost a Spade trick—Declarer still will take two Spades—and it will insure an entry in Dummy. Having planned the hand in that way, Declarer plays the Nine of Spades from Dummy and, when East plays small wins with the Ace. He then leads the Queen of Clubs from Closed Hand and, if it wins, leads the Jack of Clubs from Closed Hand to trick 3, playing the King of Clubs from Dummy (unless Ace be played by West on the second Club trick). If the King of Clubs wins, Dummy leads the Ten of Clubs to trick 4 so as to establish the Clubs. This, with the Spade entry made in Dummy by the play of the Ace on the first trick, insures game for Declarer.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

SPECIALTIES LEAD RALLY

Automobile Shares Show Moderate Gains; Most Rails Are Quiet.

EQUIPMENT LIST STRONG

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 31.—Stocks rallied today in a moderate active market in which numerous specialties led the center of the stage. The advance was assisted by the announced reduction in the call money rate from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent, an unusual development on the last day of a month, and indicating that the money market requirements had been met with little difficulty.

The most important event of the day—the publication of the quarterly earnings of the United States Steel Corporation—showing that in the final three months of last year, failed to cover the $1.75 quarterly dividend declaration—did not occur until after the market had moved under the circumstances traders were wary about making commitments in steel stocks and trading in them was unusually light. United States Steel, however, moved narrowly, but closed at its high for the day with a net advance of 1 1/2 points.

Other active issues in this group to finish with net advances included Federal Light and Traction, Columbia Gas, at a new peak price for the day, gained 4 1/2 points, and Brooklyn Union Gas, on the high ground, closed with a net advance of 4 1/2 points.

Movements were more individual than group affairs, but the utilities probably did better than any other class of stocks. Montana Power soared into new high price ground, closing at 161 1/4, then dropping back to close at 159, up 4 1/2 net. Brooklyn Edison, at a new peak price for the day, gained 4 1/2 points, and Brooklyn Union Gas, on the high ground, closed with a net advance of 4 1/2 points.

Other active issues in this group to finish with net advances included Federal Light and Traction, Columbia Gas, at a new peak price for the day, gained 4 1/2 points, and Brooklyn Union Gas, on the high ground, closed with a net advance of 4 1/2 points.

Moderate gains were made by most of the automobile stocks although trading was a rule, dragged in this group. General Motors, which had been on a comparatively light turnover, Peers gained 2 1/2. Mack Truck, Studebaker and Yellow Truck & Coach, gained 1 1/2, 1 and 3/4 points, respectively.

Stocks active on the upside included also Air Reduction, up 3/4; Alaska Juneau, American Lumber, British Empire Steel, California Packing, Continental Baking & A. and B. Endicott Johnson, Goodrich Tire, Greene Copper, Lee Rubber, International Nickel, Life Savers, and others, with gains up to 5 1/2 points.

Most of the rails were quiet, although Canadian Pacific was strong, and Texas & Pacific made new high price for the year at 117, then fell back to 115, up 4 points net. Railway Equipments were strong. Altogether, 23 new high prices for the year were established during the session, in which the total turnover was in the neighborhood of 2,100,000 shares.

In the opinion of many market observers trading at the moment represents little more than a tug of war between opposing speculative forces. A large bear suggestion, however, has been taken considerable punishment in the past, is regarded as holding its lines with more confidence than for some time, and while the bull element, though still rather aggressive, is not quite so confident, for the reason, it is contended, that the latter seemingly has lost its principal bull argument, easy money conditions, which for more than a year has been the stumbling block of the bears.

Sterling declined again in a dropping foreign-exchange market. French and Dutch rates also falling back, along with Norwegian and German, but the Swedish crown picked up a point. Canadian fell back 4 points to 99 1/2, making a gold movement again probable.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 31 (A.P.).—With immediate delivery corn in Chicago quoted in some cases at 4 cents a bushel advance, prices for future deliveries also advanced higher. The corn market was the Gulf of Mexico, however, was 1/2 cent lower at 6 1/2 cents over Chicago. At other leading centers were of much less volume than the day previous.

Closing futures for corn, the market was nervous at the same time, yesterday's finish to 1/2 cent lower, wheat, unchanged, and soybeans, 1/2 cent, 3/4 to 1/2 cent up, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

It was only in the last part of the day that export demand for corn failed to cut into the figure. However, it finally developed that a fair amount of business with Europe had been done, including a round lot of 2,000 bushels of corn sold by Chicago handlers today to the East for transatlantic shipment. Earlier, the principal selling factor was falling off in receipts, especially at Chicago and tallied respectively 44 cars and 50 cars.

Considerable notice was taken, too, today were commencing to appear, than yesterday, the better grades mean. Throughout the day, however, the corn market as a whole had a choppy trend, profit-taking sales increasing on the price bulge, but offerings being readily cleaned up on declines.

Rural tenders of corn were small. The North American available supply for the year, 40,616,000 bushels for the year, was governed largely by weakness of Liverpool quotations and by word of increased selling pressure both from Argentina and Canada. Winter killing East as well as West of the Mississippi River.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL SYSTEMS FARED IN BUREAU REPORT

Efficiency Experts Would Have President Name Board of Education Members.

CALLS FOR $11,000,000 FOR BUILDING PROGRAM

Suggests to Chairman Phipps of Senate Committee 95 More Teachers Be Named.

Appointment of members of the Board of Education by the President of the United States rather than by the District Supreme Court is the principal change recommended in the report of the Bureau of Efficiency yesterday by John Phipps, chairman of the subcommittee on the District budget of the Senate appropriations committee.

In addition to the change in method of appointment of members of the board, the report recommends an increased appropriation of $11,000,000 be made for the remaining two years of the five-year school building program.

While the bureau stated that the existing relation between the school board and the District Commissioners appears to be satisfactory, it recommended that the provision in the organic act of 1900 that the annual estimates of the Board of Education shall be transmitted to the Commissioners with such recommendations as they deem proper, which has been repealed, should be reenacted. It also stated that responsibility of the board in the matter of the acquisition of school sites and the construction and repair of school property should be clearly defined.

Favorable to Schools.

As a whole the report appears favorable to the administration of the schools in accordance with the present system. A few changes were recommended in the administrative offices. It advocates that 95 new teachers be appointed and added to the present staff in the next estimate.

The bureau advocated a more satisfactory system of storage and distribution of supplies and the creation of more storage space, a more satisfactory method of hiring janitors for the schools, the supervision of repairs of the school buildings by a qualified mechanical engineer or architect and under the direct authority of the Board of Education, instead of division with the office of the municipal architect as at present.

A few of the changes recommended in the personnel system included transfer of supervision of the white junior high schools from the first assistant superintendent to the assistant superintendent in charge of the organization and management of elementary schools; extension of the authority of the supervising principals to include the organization of junior high schools in their respective divisions; abolishment of the two positions of white and colored directors of kindergarten, the incumbents have retired, and their duties transferred, respectively, to the white assistant superintendent in charge of instruction in elementary schools and the colored director of primary instruction.

Health Funds Too Small.

The bureau recommended that the Board of Education establish two platoon schools in order that an experimental test of the platoon school system may be made. The bureau report declared the Park View platoon school can not be considered typical of the modern platoon school as operated in other cities.

A report of the United States Public Health Service on health conditions in the schools declares that the average cost per child in the District of health work is 88 cents, which indicates the "hopeless inadequacy of the present organization." Other cities expend from $1 to $2 per child on health work. It was recommended that the local expenditure be raised to $1.80.

Capital Girl of 19 Held in Forgery Case

Miss Eola June Dodd, 19 years old, of 8920 McKinley street, northwest, yesterday was arrested in Washington, Va., on a Washington warrant charging forgery. She was brought back to this city by Headquarters Detective Bernard W. Thompson.

Police had been searching for Miss Dodd for several weeks following complaints alleging she had forged the name of her sister, Miss Eula Eola Dodd, Phillips Terrace northwest, to six checks totaling $200. Miss Dodd, once a brunette, now a blonde, told detectives she bleached her hair several weeks ago when she went to New York for a visit. She will be arraigned in Police Court today.

Dr. Paul Bartsch Wins Fellowship

Dr. Paul Bartsch, curator of mollusks in the National Museum, has been awarded the Walter Rathbone Bacon research fellowship for the years of 1928-1930. It was announced yesterday by the Smithsonian Institution. Dr. Bartsch will make use of the award to collect material for the completion of a monograph he has long had under way on the land shells of the West Indies.

The fellowship was established by the terms of the will of Mrs. Virginia Purdy Bacon, of New York, who died in 1919, as a memorial to her husband. The will bequeathed $50,000 to the institution to endow a traveling scholarship for the study of fauna of foreign countries.

FILMS SHOW PROGRESS OF AMERICAN EXPORTS

General Motors' Movies Are Viewed by 175 Chiefs of Department of Commerce.

AT GEORGETOWN TONIGHT

Development of American business abroad since the World War is graphically portrayed in a moving picture showing the progress of automobile transportation throughout the world, which was exhibited yesterday before 175 heads of bureaus and staff members of the Department of Commerce, at the Department of the Interior.

The film shows the romance surrounding those who are pushing American products on a world-wide scale, and also shows, sometimes in a humorous vein, the difficulties which the export firms and houses are encountering in their campaign for world market for all American products.

Dealing particularly with the automotive industry in its export phase, the picture shows the American-made automobile replacing the old-fashioned and inefficient transportation agencies of the so-called backward countries, and goes on to disclose that these same countries are not a bit backward in accepting the progress of the United States as exemplified in the present duty-performing American passenger and truck automobiles.

The film was made by the General Motors Corporation and is entitled "General Motors Around the World." Its production required eight months of time for the making of the film, and the world to obtain the scenes, in 104 countries, which go to make up the more than 150,000 feet of film. Several showings of the film will be given in Washington, including one tonight before the school of foreign trade of Georgetown University.

2 WASHINGTON HOTELS CHANGE MANAGEMENT

Former 4-M Official Heads Syndicate Leasing Cairo and Arlington.

Leases on two of the largest hotels in the National Capital, the Arlington and the Cairo, have been acquired from the firm of Madix, Marshall, Moss & Mallory, by a syndicate headed by James T. Howard, formerly general manager of the 4-M Hotels, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Mr. Howard stated he will assume active, personal management of the Arlington Hotel, and L. B. Hawkins, vice president of the syndicate, will continue to manage the Cairo. No change in the policy of the two houses is contemplated. Mr. Howard stated that the syndicate has been formed for the purpose of acquiring the lease of the Hamilton Hotel, and the leasing of the Hotel Martineau to Willard Senna, of Springfield, Mass., yesterday's transaction makes four hotels the 4-M concern has released in the past several months.

Commissioners Plan To Study Police Pay

The District Commissioners yesterday asked the Senate District committee for more time to consider the Capitol bill to increase the salaries of firemen and policemen. There has been insufficient time for investigation of the advisability of adding more than $800,000 to the 1929 budget for the increases. The Commissioners said in a letter to Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the committee, and added:

"It is the intention of the Commissioners to make a thorough study of the subject of the pay of the officers and members of the Police and Fire Departments of the District in comparison with pay for similar positions in other cities comparable in population with Washington. Consideration will also be given to the amount of money involved and its relation to other items in the expenses of the District government."

Democrats in Force At Coolidge Breakfast

Democrats dominated the White House yesterday morning when President Coolidge entertained another senatorial party at the familiar breakfast of buckwheat cakes and sausage.

The Republicans present on the board were: Bingham, Connecticut; Brookhart, Iowa; Couzens, Michigan; Cutting, New Mexico; and Deneen, Illinois; while the Democrats were represented by Barkley, Kentucky; Black, Alabama; Bratton, New Mexico; Broussard, Louisiana; Caraway, Arkansas; Copeland, New York; Dill, Washington; and Edwards, New Jersey.

Policeman to Face Jury.

Policeman Karl O. Speis, of the Sixth Precinct, charged with an assault on Cornelius Ray, colored, of 414 S street northwest, was arraigned yesterday in Police Court before Judge Mattingly and after pleading not guilty amended a jury trial.

CIVIL RETIREMENT LIBERALITY URGED AT HOUSE HEARING

Steward Tells Committee Employees Are Contributing 90 Per Cent of Pension.

LEHLBACH'S MEASURE INDORSED BY LEADERS

Seven Navy Yard Mechanics, With Tools and in Work Clothes, Testify Today.

Seven mechanics of the Brooklyn navy yard, attired in dungarees and carrying the tools of their trade, will appear at a hearing before the House civil service committee this morning to plead for a liberalization of the retirement law.

Under the present law the mechanics are not eligible to retire voluntarily until they are 65 years old. Those who will testify today are prepared to show that many Government mechanics are worn out physically long before they reach that age.

Hearings on the retirement question were begun by the civil service committee yesterday, and will continue today. Ten men representing various organizations appeared before the committee yesterday, together with twice that many members of Congress.

All of the witnesses indorsed the bill of Chairman Lehlbach, of New Jersey, to increase the retirement annuity from $1,000 to $1,200 and to make retirement optional with the employee after 30 years of service. Enactment of the bill, its supporters said, would greatly improve the morale of the employees.

Some also indorsed provisions in the Dinger bill and the Smith bill, covering problems not taken care of in the Lehlbach bill.

Urges Retroactive Feature.

Representative Manlove, of Missouri, a member of the committee, indicated that he would try to have the Lehlbach bill amended so that the retirement benefits would be retroactive. He cited the case of a woman who worked in the Government service for 45 years, but who was denied the benefits of the law because she was involuntarily retired two months before the law was enacted.

Among those who appeared to indorse the Lehlbach bill were the following: Robert H. Alcorn, chairman of the joint conference on retirement; Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees; Edward J. Galtner, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers; M. L. Finnan, secretary of that association; Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Postal Supervisors; and C. P. Francis, president of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks.

At the outset of the hearing, Alcorn submitted a table based on a survey of retirement systems made by the Bureau of Labor statistics. This showed that of 87 systems maintained by industrial corporations, only 16 per cent involved contribution by the employees.

Nineteen per cent of the systems, Alcorn said, provided optional retirement at 65 years of age; 30 per cent at 60 years, and 3 per cent at 55 years' service.

Finnan, representing the letter carriers, pleaded with the committee to enact legislation whereby men dropped from the service because of ill health could be reemployed if their health was restored.

"Something should be done for these people who commit the terrible crime of recovering their health," he said.

Mr. Steward, head of the Federation of Federal Employees, declared that the employees in the Government service now are contributing 90 per cent of the retirement fund, instead of the 50 per cent it was originally intended they should pay. Chairman Lehlbach, however, differed with him, saying that the employees' share was nearer to 60 per cent.

Steward told the committee that only a small percentage of employees would leave the Government service after 30 years of service if the Lehlbach bill should become law.

Trade Board Plans Midwinter Dinner

Arrangements for the annual midwinter dinner of the Board of Trade, to be held at the Willard Saturday night, have been completed. Odell S. Smith, chairman of the committee in charge, announced yesterday.

More than 50 members of Congress and other Government officials will be the guests of the organization. Arrangements have been made for a feast of 750. An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged by a committee headed by George Triplett.

Southern Installs New Smoking Cars

The Southern Railway System today will inaugurate the use of new and improved smoking cars on its service between New York, this city, and Augusta, Ga. It was announced here last night.

The new smoking cars, especially built by the Pullman Co., are of the lounge type, and have ten sections, which will afford greater smoking room facilities for passengers.

Freedmen's Hospital Limitation Removed

The clause in the Interior Department appropriation bill requiring the District of Columbia to pay half the cost of new construction at Freedmen's Hospital was stricken from the bill yesterday by the Senate appropriations committee. The cost of the new construction is $247,500.

The clause was inserted in the appropriation bill by Representative Crampton, of Michigan, author of the $9,000,000 Federal postal building bill. He contended that Freedmen's Hospital, which is conducted for negroes under the jurisdiction of the Interior Department, was in no sense a national institution. The Senate appropriations committee did not agree with him.

Phantom Proposal Opposed in Petition

Lost—a project. Finder please communicate with the Public Utilities Commission. Fifty residents of Kennedy street yesterday petitioned the commission to protest against the "proposal of the Capital Traction Co. to construct double car tracks in front of their houses between Fifth and Fourteenth streets, where there is now a single track of the Takoma Park line." Officials of the street car company told Earl V. Fisher, secretary of the commission, that they had made no such proposal. The commission is now wondering how the petition came to be circulated.

Wife Sues for Divorce

Mrs. Grace R. Keleher, 1322 Park road northwest, who alleges that her husband John R. Keleher, of Willard, Ohio, remarried without first divorcing her, filed suit in Equity Court yesterday against him for an absolute divorce. Mrs. Grace M. McFeter Keleher, wife No. 2, is named co-defendant. The first marriage took place October 27, 1921, and the second marriage, which is the basis of the divorce bill took place on February 12, 1927 at Detroit, Mich. The plaintiff says, Attorneys Neudecker & Ashford appeared for Mrs. Keleher No. 1.
